

Enthusiastic fans give Cougars' Coach Roger Leger Tremendous reception.

Fans Rise Early To Greet Return Of Triumphant Victoria Cougars

The most popular men in town today—Victoria's victorious Cougars—will seek to win the Pacific Coast Hockey League playoffs the same way they skated to the league championship—take the games as they come, one by one.

So said beaming coach Roger Leger today as he stepped off the Mv. Chinook mid the just cheers of more than 200 fans on hand to give their team an enthusiastic welcome home.

It was a tremendous climax to this hockey-mad city's best season since the original Cougars won two consecutive league championships in 1925 and 1926.

As players worked their way through immigration and customs routine, then stepped into the crowd, cheers went up for each.

YOUNGSTERS ON HAND

Some of the small fry wormed through the throng with dog-eared autograph books and stubby pencils.

Diminutive Eddie Dorohoy received a tremendous ovation for winning the league scoring title.

"I wasn't too worried. I just worked hard and hoped I'd make it. Winning the game was the most important thing, of course," said the scrappy centre.

Club owner Lester Patrick received handshakes and back pats, then melted into the crowd; he left the glory for his boys.

Coach Leger explained the 7 to 4 win over the Seattle Ironmen this way:

"The boys were a little bit nervous at first—they were trying too hard, I think. That's the way it is with this young team—they got tied up a little and made a few mistakes."

"They missed several chances."

Fan June Rawlinson, 1301 Fort, rewards top scorer Ed Dorohoy.

It's not so good when three men break down the ice and don't score. The breaks were against us.

WON HARD WAY

"Then in the second period, we relaxed a little better. In the last period we played hockey, but I sure think we won it the hard way," the big, popular coach grinned.

But he added if his team is to win the playoffs, it will be the same way. He isn't expecting any easy time.

"I can't promise we'll win, but we've got the same chance as we had to in the league championship," he said as fans deluged him with congratulations.

FEW HOCKEY TICKETS ON SALE TUESDAY

Victorians without tickets to Tuesday night's Pacific Coast Hockey League play-off game at the Memorial Arena between Victoria Cougars and Portland Eagles will get a chance to buy a limited number of pasteboards tomorrow morning at 9.

General manager Fred Hutchinson announced today tickets not picked up by 5 today by season ticket holders and playoff ticket holders along with a limited number of partially obstructed seats and general admission tickets would be available at the hockey club ticket office, 825 Fort.

Civil Servants' Salary Battle Goes To Cabinet

The executive committee of the B.C. Government Employees' Association has finally been able to arrange to go before the provincial cabinet to argue for higher pay for the 8,000 civil servants within its membership.

The meeting with the cabinet has been set for Tuesday morning at 11.

The employees will ask the government to implement a 15 per cent wage increase for everyone engaged in government service.

COST-OF-LIVING BONUS

At the same time, the association will take the cabinet to task for throwing out the cost-of-living bonus formula agreed upon by the cabinet and the association in November, 1947.

Tomorrow at their first meeting with the cabinet since the formula was canceled, the association executive will tell the cabinet the association was astonished that the government did so without serving official notification.

And they will say that since the agreement is off, provincial employees will need the 15 per cent increase sought to make up depleted earning power.

South Koreans Smash Reds In River Crossing

U.S. Jet Pilots Take Toll Of Red Group

TOKYO (AP)—South Korean troops swam the chilly Hongchon River in Central Korea today in pursuit of Communist forces pulling back toward the 38th Parallel.

The Republic of Korea (R.O.K.) soldiers were spearheading the central front drive of the U.S. Eighth Army which has set up strong forces in a holding line only 17 miles south of the politically important parallel.

"There was no stopping those R.O.K. troops," said a military spokesman. "They swam the river rather than wait for boats to ferry them across in the northward drive."

The same R.O.K. troops trapped and annihilated a Chinese Communist battalion Sunday.

The South Koreans faded back when they first met the Reds. But they sent strong patrols out in a flanking movement until they were north of the Chinese. Then they smashed the Reds simultaneously from the front and rear.

American liaison officers with the South Koreans counted 231 dead Chinese after the battle.

It was the first action of any size along the Korean front in 83 hours.

U.S. jet pilots Monday killed or wounded 300 of 1,500 Reds concentrated in the village of Kapyong, 32 miles northeast of Seoul.

On the eastern front, Allied patrols probing within a few miles of the 38th Parallel moved northward against Red small arms and mortar fire.

The army, breaking a three-day silence, announced "holding elements" are 17 miles from the 38th Parallel at five points. It did not locate the points and said it would not. Holding elements presumably are capable of holding their grounds against heavy attack.

The brief announcement said patrols were operating "miles north" of the five points and in all other sections. It did not say how many miles.

Eggs Up Two Cents

Egg prices crept up another two cents a dozen today. The increase applies to all grades. It means consumers will be paying as high as 68 cents a dozen for grade A large.

CANADIAN NUNS FACE DEATH PENALTY

British Aid Asked; Canada Powerless

OTTAWA (CP)—Powerless to do anything directly, Canadian officials today studied news reports of the arrest of five Canadian nuns in China and asked Britain to do what she can to help them. There was little optimism that much can be done through official channels.

Canada does not recognize the Chinese Communist Government and has no official representatives in that country. The United Kingdom has recognized the Communist regime.

There are several hundred Canadians on the mainland of China. The External Affairs Department in 1948 and 1950 issued warnings to Canadians to consider leaving the country. The majority, however, have remained.

HONGKONG (AP)—A Roman Catholic priest today said five nuns at a Canadian orphanage in Canton, blamed by the Chinese Communists for the deaths of 2,116 children, actually had tried to save the abandoned tots.

The Communists announced Sunday that the nuns had been jailed in Canton. Death is the penalty if they're found guilty.

Dead is Pte. William Lapka of Lulu Island, B.C., who previously was reported wounded in a casualty list.

Injured in a battle accident was Pte. Harold Archibald Holden of Kemptville, Ont.

The list brought to 74 the number of casualties suffered by the 2nd Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, in Korean action. They include 19 dead, 49 wounded and six injured in battle accidents.

ANGLO-IRANIAN PARTY ARRIVES TO STUDY ALBERTA'S TAR SANDS

EDMONTON (CP)—Three officials of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company, one of the world's largest oil firms, arrived here today from London to survey the feasibility of producing oil from northern Alberta's tar sands.

The sands straddle the Athabasca River, 320 miles north of here. Estimates of their oil content have run as high as 300,000,000,000.

The Anglo-Iranian party is headed by Dr. D. A. Howes of the firm's research and development division. He is accompanied by J. F. Watson, geologist, and P. A. Medcraft of the firm's commercial service.

New York Ex-Mayor Tells Probers Of 'Murder Inc.'

Says Gambling Chief Costello Helped Send Slayer To Chair; Flares Up At Questioning

NEW YORK (UP)—William O'Dwyer, who became Mayor of New York on the basis of his publicity as prosecutor of "Murder Inc.," told the Senate Crime Investigating Committee today that Frank Costello played a part in sending a notorious racketeer and killer to the electric chair.

Costello, according to the committee, is one of the leaders of two crime syndicates controlling organized crime throughout the United States. He is under citation for contempt of Congress because he thrice refused to answer the committee's questions.

But O'Dwyer said Costello's name was "never mentioned" as a member of "the board of directors" of the 1940 crime syndicate which supported "Murder, Inc.," as its judicial and execution branch. Rather, Costello had a part in bringing Louis "Lepke" Buchalter, one of the most murderous criminals in New York's history, to the justice of Sing Sing's "hot seat," O'Dwyer said.

He did not, however, specifically absolve Costello. Responding to the sharp questioning of Rudolph Halley and frequently irritated and snappish, the current Ambassador to Mexico merely said that so far as he knew Costello was never connected "with any murder in Brooklyn."

O'Dwyer's testimony was marked by sharp questioning and sharp replies. At one point the Irish immigrant boy who rose to high posts, defended his public life with such heat he asked and received a short recess to give him time "to compose myself."

Sidney Beer Vote

April 17 has been set for a vote in Sidney on the question of allowing beer parlors in the city.

The plebiscite on the sale of beer by the glass was asked in a petition to the government and the date for the polling was set by order-in-council.

Bus, 20 Cars Stranded By Road Drifts

From CP Dispatches

Winter's worst blizzard swept Manitoba today as Alberta and Saskatchewan counted a toll of 11 dead and one person missing from last week's ferocious onslaught of snow and wind.

Striking at areas which escaped the worst of the earlier blizzard, the new storm moved slowly northwestward from the Lake Superior area.

The weather bureau called the storm "intense" and issued a weather warning for the Interlake, Red River and Winnipeg areas.

The Manitoba government broadcast advice to motorists to stay home. Country roads were reported badly drifted and visibility close to zero.

The snow was whipped up by 30-mile-an-hour winds which the weather bureau said would continue until tonight.

A loaded bus and about 20 cars were reported marooned at Petersburg, 30 miles north of Winnipeg. The highways department sent a plow to release them. All other plows had been ordered off the roads.

NOT MUCH SNOW

The public weather forecaster said it was fortunate the windstorm included "comparatively little snow." He described it as a breakoff from the violent Alberta-Saskatchewan blizzard of last week.

"It broke away from the main body, traveled down into the south and southeast United States, then turned upward over Lake Superior, where it reached its peak," the forecaster said.

The Dominion weather office reported that the storm appeared spent in Alberta but northwest winds up to 24 miles an hour continued to lash eastern Saskatchewan.

Dead are: August Samuel, 22, Swift Current, Sask.; Armand Lasautier, 14, Cadillac, Sask.; Pete Darke, 63, Regina; Mr. and Mrs. Belsher, McCord, Sask.; Thomas Irvin, 69, Calgary; Mr. and Mrs. Fitzpatrick, Benton, Alta.; Sharon Riep, four-months, Trochu, Alta.; Roy Coston, 14, Bentley, 15; and Mrs. Polly Taylor of Telfordville, Alta.

Still missing is Antoine Darveau, a 70-year-old farmer of the Dundurn district about 24 miles south of Saskatoon. Darveau has been unreported since Thursday. Search parties are being hampered by snow drifts as deep as 12 feet.

TRAIN RELEASED

Snow plows were forced to forge their way through mountainous 15-foot snow drifts to reach a train marooned with 38 aboard at Oyen, Alta. Reports indicated none of the passengers suffered any ill effects from their prolonged confinement in the train's baggage car. Oyen is about 190 miles northeast of Calgary.

Latest storm victims were the three reported in Saskatchewan.

SPRING'S HERE, SWALLOWS BACK

The swallows returned to Beacon Hill Park today and as far as the parks department is concerned "all's well with the world."

Spring is here! Though she arrives officially March 21, the return of the swallows means spring to Victoria. Parks Administrator H. W. Warren said.

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

IRELAND AND IRE

WITH SERIOUS MATTERS predominating—as they should, of course—in local legislative circles these days, it is only natural that any little diversion which permits of a smile should be seized upon, if only as a safety valve for the strains and tensions created by those same serious situations.

So I welcomed a letter from one of my regular readers who is also a frequenter of the galleries across the Bay. As it is self-explanatory and will doubtless amuse others as much as it did me, I am reproducing it here, as indicative of an Irishman's view of one part of the traditional proceedings on the floor of the House.

OUT TO PASTURE

THE WRITER, who uses the typically Irish cognomen of "Erin Go Bragh!" notes that, as a new Victorian now, "out to pasture" and having plenty of spare time on his hands, he has been an interested spectator in the public gallery of the Legislative Chamber.

And, he adds: "Particularly have I been interested in seeing one woman with so many men under her thumb; most women would be content with having just one man to keep in order." Having thus first undermined my resistance with a delightful bit of blarney, my correspondent next takes a poke at our alleged pro-British proclivities.

AGAIN THE GOVERNMENT

His letter continues: "I have enjoyed it all, but being Irish, it is only natural that I found something 'agin the government' to kick about. No, it is not Bill 15, but something far more important, that is, to an Irishman, it is the wording of the following sentence in the official prayers: 'Great Britain, Ireland and His Majesty's other Dominions.' Now, Ireland, after many generations of martyrdom under the heel of England, and after continued agitation, and much shedding of blood, several years ago, finally threw off the yoke of England, severed all connection with the British Empire, and proclaimed herself a free and independent republic.

"It, therefore, does seem astounding, to an Irishman at any rate, that the reverberations of this world-shattering event should not have been heard across the Rockies, and it is nothing short of an insult to an emancipated Ireland to have her still prayed for, not as a free and independent republic, but as a vassal of England."

TO RIGHT A WRONG

UNLIKE MOST of the detractors of government doings, however, my correspondent is not content just to criticize and condemn—even in the case of such a heinous offence as that alluded to. So he comes up with the following constructive suggestion:

"In order to correct this wrong to the Irish, I would remind you that there is another part to Ireland, officially designated Northern Ireland, and, strange as it may seem, these stubborn 'Ulster Scots' comprising six counties, not only disassociate themselves from the real Irish, but cling to and are even proud of their status as a dominion of the British Empire. "Therefore, Madam Speaker, in order to adjust matters amicably and make both parts of Ireland happy I would humbly suggest and move that the offending sentence be amended to read as follows: 'Great Britain, Northern Ireland and His Majesty's other Dominions.'"

ALL IS FORGIVEN?

AS THE MATTER to which he alludes had already been under consideration, the "wrong" will be righted by the time this appears in print, and, henceforth, British Columbia legislators will daily dedicate their official supplications to the cause of Northern Ireland.

And, while this may appear, on the surface, to suggest an official belief that the Republic of Ireland is past our praying for, I hope that my introduction in the House of the new form of prayer on Friday last, the eve of St. Patrick's Day, will not only avenge Irish honor but—who knows?—may go down in history as having averted another "international incident."

3 Hurt, $3,000 Damage In Week-End Accidents

Three persons were injured and about $3,000 worth of damage done to vehicles in a series of Saturday night traffic accidents in Greater Victoria and on the Island Highway.

Although the good eather drew out thousands of motorists for a drive in the country Sunday, police of the area said the day was clear of serious accidents.

Driver and passenger on a motorcycle that went out of control on Johnson Street at Victoria West Park, struck a guard rail and skidded for 150 feet. Petty Officers Irving Agnew, 26, and John Costin, 34, of Langford, were reported in improved condition at H.M.C.S. Naden Hospital this morning. Agnew suffered a fractured left arm. Both suffered bruises, cuts and concussion.

Oscar J. French, 2520 Rock Bay Avenue, suffered cuts on the head and knees when the heavy truck he was driving hit the rear of a B.C.E.R. bus on George Road. Bus was driven by Fred C. Hawkins, 2830 Cedar Hill Road. Passengers in the bus were shaken up but none were injured. Damage was close to $500.

Police estimated damage to $1,000 in a 400-block Cook Street accident when a car driven by William Calyn, 1228 Juno Street, collided with a parked English truck owned by George West, 444 Cook. Impact sent the English car against a telephone pole, which was snapped off at the base. No one was hurt.

In a Sunday accident on Glasgow Street, a car driven by Ronald R. Day, 2931 Earl Grey Street, collided with a fire hydrant and knocked it off at the base.

R.C.M.P. highway patrol reported heavy damage was done in an Island Highway collision near the six-mile post between cars driven by George F. Holland, 2226 Shakespeare Street, and Peter P. Brown, 1103 Lockley Road.

Albert Dye, 950 Dunn Street, told police about $100 damage was done to his Black and White

Congress May Balk At Piecemeal Tax Requests

President Indicates He Will Ask For Another $6½ Billions In New Levy

WASHINGTON (UP)—A top-ranking Democrat on the House tax-writing ways and means committee doubted today that Congress will give President Truman all the 10 billion dollars he requested in new taxes.

This Democrat, who refused use of his name, said he hoped Congress would meet Mr. Truman's request, but said he was "extremely doubtful."

Congress has taken the position that Mr. Truman should have requested all the tax increases he wants instead of asking for them piecemeal. Mr. Truman said he would ask for another 6½ billion later on.

The President asked Congress as a first installment to increase personal income taxes by four billion a year and corporation and excise taxes by three billion each.

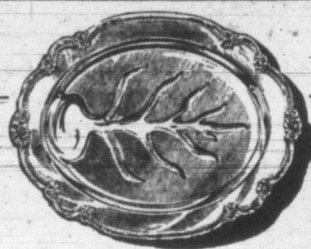

Elsewhere in Congress: Troops—Sen. H. Alexander Smith, R., N.J., said the Senate's much debated troops resolution is an "invitation"—not an order—to Mr. Truman to work with Congress on the policy question of sending more U.S. troops to Europe.

Rent control — Congress was ready to complete action on a 90-day extension of present limited rent controls.

R.F.C.—R.F.C. Director C. Edward Rowe demanded that the Senate investigating subcommittee declare that he has acted in "a perfectly ethical and legal manner." The subcommittee has charged that "favoritism and influence" figured in making R.F.C. loans and has named Rowe as one of the persons involved.

Meet May Plan Defences For West World

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Foreign Ministers from the western hemisphere Republics meet here next week for a conference expected to produce a new basic strategy for the defence of Central and South America.

State Secretary Dean Acheson, as United States representative, is expected to urge each of the 21 Republics:

1. Not only to prepare its own defences but also, through the Inter-American Defence Board, to join in developing an over-all strategic plan.
2. To increase and speed up its military program with possible U.S. assistance.
3. To designate some units for United Nations service to oppose aggression anywhere in the world, on the theory that the strength of the U.N. is an essential part of hemisphere security arrangements.

6 Nations Initial Steel Pool Plans

Schuman's Scheme Advances Step; Awaits Parliamentary Ratification

PARIS (AP)—Six countries of Western Europe today initiated the Schuman Plan for pooling most of their coal and steel.

The agreement, coming after nine months of negotiations, constituted one of the most ambitious economic proposals made in Europe in this century.

The plan for an international control of West Europe's major resources was initiated at the French Foreign Ministry by technical experts of France, Italy, Belgium, Luxembourg, the Netherlands and West Germany.

The French Foreign Minister, Robert Schuman, proposed last May to put nearly two-thirds of free Europe's multi-billion-dollar coal and steel industry into a single market.

The first blow to the plan was Britain's refusal to take part.

Last June the six countries began negotiations. The wrangling became so intense, however, that American officials intervened recently in Germany to work out a compromise with the French and West Germans to save the plan.

Today's initialing still leaves the plan a long way from realization. The cabinets of the six countries next must approve it. Then the plan faces its greatest obstacle—ratification by the six national parliaments.

There is still much opposition to the proposal. Negotiators believe it will take months—possibly a year—before it can be called finished.

Karl Homuth, M.P., Dies Suddenly

OTTAWA (CP)—Karl Homuth, 58, Progressive Conservative Member of Parliament for Waterloo South, died suddenly here today.

In indifferent health for two years, the veteran parliamentarian was stricken in his hotel room. Death was believed due to a heart attack.

He was one of parliament's most colorful figures from his election in 1938.

GENEVA (AP)—Dr. Louis Schalkwijk of South Africa was elected chairman of the United Nations social commission here today at the opening of a four-week conference.

Offers To Keep Quiet

MILAN (AP)—The Italian Communist boss, Palmiro Togliatti, offered in a speech today to stop harassing the government of Premier Alcide de Gasperi of Italy would get out of the Atlantic Defence Alliance.

Another Storm Hits Midwest Area Of U.S.

CHICAGO (AP)—The northern mid-western states were hanging on the ropes—again—today, virtually knocked out by another smashing blizzard.

Throughout the area many highways were blocked by snow, planes were grounded and some trains were stalled by mountainous snow drifts.

Although the fury of the storm was not as widespread as the two earlier blizzards that already had hit the region this month, it was more intense, in spots. In southern Minnesota, southeastern South Dakota and northern Iowa highway traffic was blocked in many places. Trains stalled in northern Iowa.

The storm left as much as 19 inches of new snow in the area. Winds up to 45 miles an hour whipped it into deep drifts which blocked highways that had been cleared only a few days earlier from the storm of a week ago.

FARM FAMILIES MAROONED

The storm began Saturday and continued through most of Sunday. It marooned scores of farm families in western Minnesota. Civil air patrol pilots made more than 50 flights yesterday from Wheaton, Minn., to carry provisions to the isolated region and to take two sick farmers and a baby to hospitals.

At St. Paul and Minneapolis, where the snowfall measured nearly 10 inches, airlines cancelled most of their flights. Bus lines had resumed some operations from there today, but secondary highways still were blocked.

Treaty Pact Action On Turkey, Greece Urged

WASHINGTON (AP)—An urgent recommendation from top diplomats in the Middle East that the Atlantic Treaty countries act quickly on the question of bringing Turkey and Greece into the organization is riveting Allied interest on the crucial southern flank of the European defence system.

Several recent developments, it was learned today, point up the new attention being given to securing the southern anchor of the European line. These include:

1. Reports that Spain has told the U.S. it would send troops to the defence of Western Europe provided they receive American arms.
2. Assurance by Washington to Gen. Eisenhower, supreme Allied commander, that the U.S. Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean is ready for any mission in support of the southern end of his European defence system.
3. Concern over native unrest in Middle East and North African areas. This latter may well speed decisions on American policy on the whole Mediterranean-Middle East security question.

Belgian Reds Quit

BRUSSELS (AP)—A former Communist party leader, Fernand Demany, estimated today the party in Belgium lost 75,000 of its 100,000 members in the post-war period.

Repairing The Leaks

THE FACT THAT THE BRITISH

Columbia Government has faced the financial difficulties of its hospital insurance scheme boldly and openly does not mean that the scheme cannot be improved. Having taken steps to cover the insurance deficit, having risked serious unpopularity by doing so, the Government should mend the leaks.

The co-insurance policy is one such attempt. It will discourage people from going unnecessarily to hospital. On the other hand, as some people have argued, a patient who has once paid the limited hospital charges out of his own pocket in the first days of illness may be encouraged to remain needlessly in hospital when he has to pay no more. The suggestion that the co-insurance charges should be applied after the patient has been in hospital for a week or so, rather than in his first days, is worth considering.

The larger problem, however, is to make sure that everybody who can pay is paying his insurance premium. Despite the lengthy debates of the Legislature the public has no detailed information on this point. There can be no doubt that a substantial group of people is not paying.

It is unlikely that this situation will be improved until the insurance administration gets its payroll deduction machinery in better working order. Until everybody who is regularly employed has his hospital premium deducted from his wages like the income tax there is bound to be evasion. The slow progress of payroll deduction is one of the most disappointing features of the whole scheme which, in this respect, seems to be bogged down in paper work.

On the other side of the ledger is the rising cost of hospital service, which even the new and higher fees may not cover. Last year the Government calculated that $2.5 millions from the treasury would cover the annual deficit, which in fact turned out to be $4 millions. There is no assurance that its calculations for the next year are any sounder. Costs may go up again with the rise in general prices.

As against such possible increases economy in administering the scheme itself and in the hospitals becomes imperative than ever. The Government has warned hospitals that it will not underwrite their deficits over amounts agreed upon at the beginning of the year. To this extent hospitals are on their own. Some more definite assurance that no money is being wasted either in the insurance administration or the hospitals would be welcome.

In the end the basic fact is inescapable... the people through the Legislature have decided to provide a certain costly service and must pay for it, either openly through premiums or secretly through taxes. There is no free government service and cannot be. The discovery of this simple fact makes governments unpopular but it is better to know the worst than to be deluded by the easy promises of Mr. Winch, who always expects Santa Claus to pick up the cheque.

How To Kill Enterprise

THE QUEBEC LEGISLATURE, A

vigorous advocate of private enterprise, has hit on a good method of undermining it. A bill now under consideration would allow the bread, baking and confectionery industry to form an association, govern itself and effectively stifle competition.

The language of this monopoly bill is surprisingly candid: "No one may carry on the trade or industry of baking or confectionery in the Province of Quebec unless he is a member of the Association in good standing under its by-laws. The Association is authorized to define, by by-laws, the acts and practices considered as derogatory to the honor, interest and welfare of the Association in general."

In other words, no one can sell bread or confectionery in Quebec unless he belongs to the combine. And any merchant who tries to compete effectively with another can be put out of business by the ruling clique.

This might be considered merely a passing aberration of the Quebec Legislature were it not part of a general movement throughout Canada to build little cells of monopoly within the private enterprise system.

In many cases the state has delegated its powers of legislation to various interests. In some cases no harm results. For example, the state allows medical doctors largely to govern themselves, to say who shall practice medicine and under what conditions. The doctors, by and large, have not abused this great responsibility. The lawyers of British Columbia, however, have abused their parallel powers by erecting an effective tariff against lawyers from other provinces. Throughout the nation various other professions and trades have been set up as almost sovereign powers, most of them determined to prevent or limit competition.

What the public has paid in high prices for lack of competition no one can calculate. This cartelization of business and professional life is the outright denial of the competitive principles which the privileged groups are never tired of advocating.

It is to be hoped the Quebec Legislature will not create a new monopoly in the essential business of baking and that the Legislature of British Columbia will not extend similar experiments here.

Getting A Little Closer

RECENT SETTLEMENT OF THE 17 months' trade war between India and Pakistan was the first major issue to be solved since the two countries achieved independence from British rule. While it had not received the foreign attention won by more spectacular issues, such as the Kashmir dispute, the commercial stalemate was seriously injuring the economy of both neighbors and intensifying the hardships through which they—particularly India—are passing.

India had refused to accept a rupee ratio favoring Pakistan's currency. Under governmental agitation the deal agreement had become almost a major matter of foreign policy. Early this month, in what was almost an overnight reversal, New Delhi announced the rate acceptable, and a new trade agreement with the Pakistan Government followed immediately.

It is too much, perhaps, to hope that the rest of the sub-continent's disputes will be settled as easily. The major issue of Kashmir seems no nearer solution. But the folly of remaining at permanent loggerheads must be evident to both parties. And their mutual need of foreign aid should spur them to adopt as reasonable and co-operative an attitude as possible.

Honoring Canadian Character

THE DECISION TO NAME THE NEW

18-room Belmont Park school for children of navy personnel in honor of an R.C.N. hero, and to follow the same practice for other such schools, will be gratifying to all Canadians. The action marks another step toward recognition of the national character of our own service in the spirit of the Malguy report. It reflects no adverse severance of traditional ties with the Royal Navy, which continues to enjoy the historic respect of Canadians.

The new John Stubbs Memorial School does, however, show a measure of appreciation for a Canadian who attained distinction in service to his country and gave his life in discharge of duty. His name, and those of others inscribed on similar buildings in future, will provide a reminder of our own contribution to naval tradition. It is an excellent move, not just as a personal memorial to a fine character, but as a symbol of our growing stature as a nation.

By Starlight

IT'S HARD TO FEEL IMPORTANT under the night sky. In daylight, the view is confined to the earth, man's domain of mountains and rivers, plains and oceans. Seeing them, it is easy for him to believe himself the master even though no other part of creation agrees. It is not difficult for him to believe this setting was made for him, these mountains he can tear down, these rivers he can divert, these plains he converts into gardens. But at night it is so different.

These the earth is in darkness, only the skies are alight with stars. Then, man, perforce looking upward, is humbled by what he sees. In his most egotistical moment he cannot claim that panoply as his. The deep depths of the universe are beautiful but fearsome. Space, in a little way, man has controlled. But time is still his master, and the space of the cosmos is merged with time so that man must ever acknowledge his defeat.

His conquests appear trivial, his successes fatuous. He has exerted all his strength, all his intelligence, all his courage and conquered part of a speck of vastness. It's hard to feel important under the night sky.

Loose Ends

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

THIS country is embarked on an era of development, expansion and wealth such as no nation of our population has ever witnessed in human history. Laurier's original prediction, that the twentieth century would belong to Canada, is coming true in the century's last half. This is what we call progress. But what is progress?

The dictionary defines progress as "a proceeding forward; an advancement or improvement in mental, moral or physical condition, etc." Progress is thus a big word with so many meanings these days that it has become a catch-all with no meaning.

HOWEVER, by the first definition, "a proceeding forward," assuredly we are going to have progress. We are going somewhere. We are building factories, digging the ore and sucking the oil out of the ground, leveling the forests raising new cities.

When you come to the second definition "an advancement or improvement in mental, moral or physical condition," are we undergoing progress?

Anyone who raises that question now-a-days exposes himself instantly to the righteous anger of the true progressives. Anyone who wonders aloud whether wealth, speed, population, smoke and destruction make progress will certainly be branded as a reactionary and an enemy of mankind.

HENCE no elected government, depending on the votes of the majority, will ever raise such a question. With governments any increase in wealth, in taxes, in population and especially in friendly voters is progress. From the day when Champlain built our first house on the frozen rock of Quebec, the basic policy of all governments has been to make us more numerous and richer and to measure progress by this simple index.

That basic policy is sound but perhaps not for the reason that governments, and most other people think. We cannot long hold this rich country as an empty island in the dark sea of world poverty. We cannot maintain the kind of vacuum which nature abhors. Either we shall occupy the country fully and use its resources or someone else will.

WHEN you apply the test of progress to the individual Canadian the answer is not so clear. Has he experienced "an advancement or improvement in mental or physical condition"? In physical condition, perhaps. He lives longer than his grandfather and you may say also that his physical condition has been improved by better houses, inside plumbing, automobiles and all the rest. I doubt though, that his body feels any better off for all this pampering.

Assuming we are better off physically, and not merely more comfortable (two different things), can it be said that we have advanced mentally or morally?

Are we any smarter than our grandfathers? We are better educated but intelligence and education also are two different things as anyone must know from observing the numerous educated halfwits now in circulation.

WE know more than our grandfathers about everything, but our grandfathers didn't have to know so much to meet the simple needs of their times. With all our knowledge we are farther behind the needs of our times than our grandfathers or, indeed, our remote ancestors in the caves. In relation to our requirements we are probably the most backward generation in history.

And morally—since Darwin ushered God Almighty out of the universe with assurances of his most distinguished consideration, since Marx founded his upside-down religion and prepared the way for his prophet, Stalin, since Freud proved that men were, on the whole, more beastly than the lowest beast—since then can you note any "advancement or improvement" in morals?

WE are living in an era of progress, as we call it, without historic parallel and in the van marches this curious little country surprised by its own dimensions, blinking in the hard northern sun, dazed by the glitter of unexpected wealth, so dazed that it still thinks itself poor. Progress, yes, of a sort, but we ought to be sure what sort we mean.

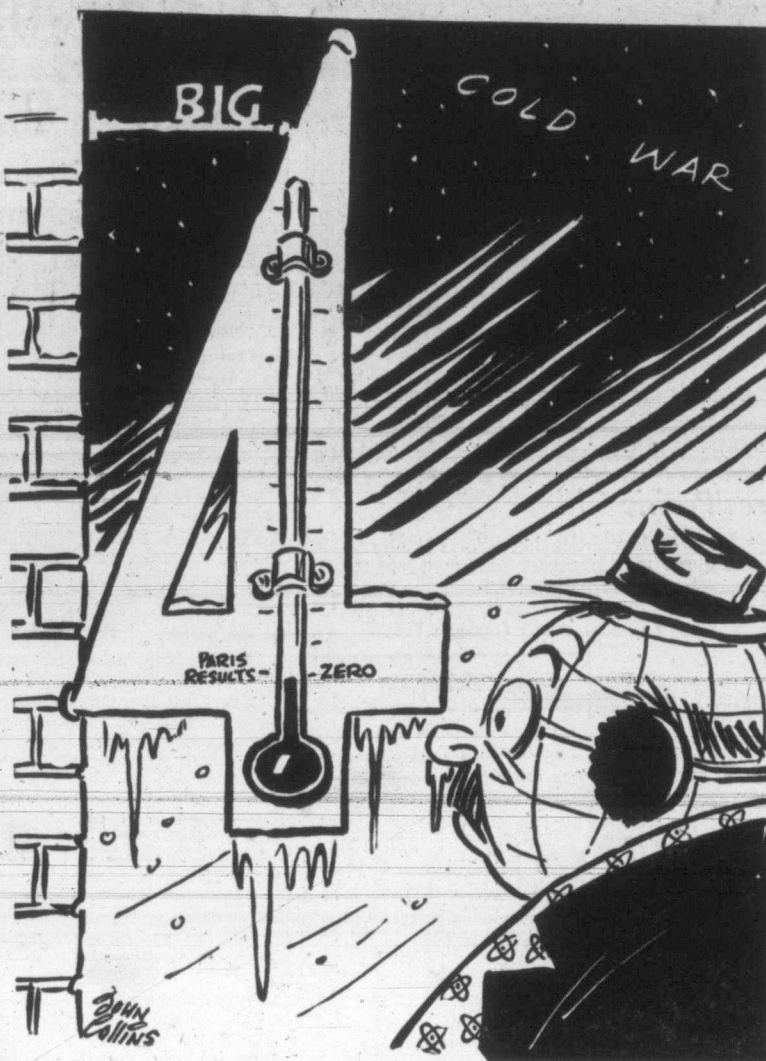

This kind of progress of itself only means more people and more goods, nothing else. We need more people since we are not entitled to hold such a country with a handful of beneficiaries. But will more people make anyone happier? Will you be happier with more people on your street, a bigger city, more crowded roads and all the old camping grounds littered with picnic paper? Will your morals improve because you are a member of a larger nation?

ON the contrary, isn't it quite clear that our grandfathers had a better time and lived saner and more moral lives than we do because they were not haunted by scepticism and the hideous threat of destruction, which now hangs over all our progress?

America has been deluded from the beginning by the notion that numbers make happiness when very often, even in the private household, they make the opposite. To build a bigger and richer country is a worthy ambition but it will not make progress unless we build a lot of other things as well. Unless we build more happiness, for example. Until we learn to do that we are debasing the word "progress" almost as fast as we debase money.

An old-timer is the one who can remember the days when thrift was in style.

Not Much Change In Temperature

On Hospital Insurance

I went to the House Thursday evening and heard the Government defend its Hospital Insurance Scheme by saying it gave security to the majority of British Columbians.

As far as I can see it mostly helps people who were already in a position to pay hospital bills.

But for people like myself, widows on pitifully small B.C. Government pensions to which our husbands contributed all their years of service, which we have to augment in any way we can (mine happens to be by the typewriter), the scheme provides little sense of security.

I belonged to a much better one before the Government attempted socialistic enterprise.

As for saying we need not pay if we can prove we cannot afford to, that, my friends, is flinging us the bone of charity and no insurance—or assurance of security.

I cannot agree with your ideas re the hospital insurance. I don't think people asked for it or wanted it in the first place. It seems to have been a baby of Mr. Johnston.

Now, thanks to it, the hospital fees are three or four times as much, or it is five? It seems to me that the B.C. Government are now anxious to have it fail—and will blame the people. To many it is a great hardship.

I noticed with a smile all the letters in your paper recently re hospital insurance.

Much good these letters will do—of course the whole thing is scandalous—and will no doubt be brought into effect. The general public evidently don't realize that if they had the guts to act they would have the whole thing properly adjusted, but they are too apathetic to do anything except grumble.

It doesn't take much to see that B.C. is not governed by the people but by dictatorship and will continue so as long as the public don't realize that actions speak louder than words.

I would like to offer a suggestion re hospital insurance. Why not take applications as in the armed forces for so many doctors and nurses for a 10-year period with the option of a further 10 years and so on? At the end of 30 years to receive a pension as in the armed forces. The Government does the training and they are paid and promoted according to their qualifications. I still think another two cents sales tax extra would have been the best bet. One for unity of purpose.

For a good many years, there have been members of our Cabinet who have been so outspoken against hospitalization. It makes one wonder now if these ministers can possibly make a success of hospitalization.

I think hospitalization would have smoother sailing if only members of Anson's calibre would walk over to Mr. Bennett's side and stay there!

For an example of bureaucracy that fairly reeks with ineptitude and suggestive of something more malodorous this hospital insurance scheme is hard to beat. Following are some facts which the public forget and the government ignores.

The Cabinet controls' taxation. A few months after the scheme was launched premiums were increased 32 per cent. The deficit for the first 15 months was $4,500,000. The very first year the personnel question got so smelly that the commissioner and several other senior officials resigned. Expensive surveys conducted by Mannix and Hamilton revealed a disgraceful state of mismanagement that led one newspaper to write, "if anyone in private business tried to give you such a deal you'd immediately call the police."

The unpopular 3 per cent tax provided a surplus over budgeting of $6,500,000, which would have taken care of the H.I.S. handsomely. What has become of this and the 1950 surplus? And now, with monstrous effrontery, they propose to saddle us with another hidden sales tax and further whopping premiums.

SEND THANKS

We wish to thank the many kind friends and neighbors, and an extra thank you to Constable Gubbault and Constable Allen of the Sidney police force and the "Rangers" of South Vancouver Island in their combined effort in trying to rescue our seven-year-old daughter, Shirley, who was lost in the woods on Tuesday, March 13.

Many thanks again.

PUBLIC SUPPORT

The Kiwanis Club of Victoria regrets most sincerely that it has been found impossible to hold over the Cowichan Indian play "Tzinquaw" for any further performances, owing to previous commitments, and we offer our apologies to those who were unable to secure tickets.

We would like, too, to take this opportunity of thanking the theatre-going public for their overwhelming patronage of "Tzinquaw." The Kiwanis community projects in this area, and in particular the Kiwanis Junior Safety Patrol, will benefit greatly from the funds raised thereby.

F. GLENN HOPE, Secretary,
Kiwanis Club of Victoria.

ELECTION STUNT

We have read and heard many things preceding elections, which many think out of order and illegal. The one that tops the pole is the one used by college students to catch votes recently, to my mind illegal and using what I call undue influence. It would be interesting to know what political party they belong to. One wonders what type of brain he had who thought up the scheme to place the name of one candidate on cigarettes, and hand them out as vote catchers.

I shudder to think what our future possible politicians will do when they get into power, when they will use this form of election stunt so early in the day.

HONESTY.

Chinese Reds Face A Failure

By STEWART ALSOP, from Washington

THE RECAPTURE of Seoul dramatizes the total failure of the Chinese Communist armies in Korea to achieve their announced objective of pushing the United Nations forces into the sea. Failure abroad can have disastrous consequences at home, especially for a newly-installed, revolutionary regime. And from all the rumor and speculation about what is going on inside China, two apparently solid facts stand out.

One is that something—no one really knows what—is happening or has happened to Chinese Communist ruler Mao Tse-tung. The other is that the authority of the government which Mao heads is quite genuinely threatened throughout large areas of China.

Mao Tse-tung has made no sort of public appearances, even at functions where he has been scheduled to show himself, for many weeks. No deputy has been sent to represent him at such functions, and no attempt to account for his absence has been made. On the basis of these facts, and of intelligence reports from within China, certain conflicting but interesting theories to account for the Mao Tse-tung mystery have been put forward.

One is that Mao has left for Moscow, to confer with his ally and patron, Stalin. Intelligence reports to this effect are taken entirely seriously. V. M. Molotov's mission to Peking last summer, now definitely known to have taken place, was cloaked in secrecy, and Mao's mission may also be secret. But if so, Mao must have been in Moscow for some weeks, and there is still no reliable confirmation of his presence there.

MANCHULI MEETING?

Another unconfirmed report has Mao waiting at Manchuli, on the Siberian border, for the arrival of the great Stalin himself. According to this report, the Russian mountain is to come to the Chinese Mohammed, in a supreme gesture of solidarity. Documents captured in North Korea proved that the Korean aggression was planned at the last meeting of Stalin and Mao. If either of the above versions of a Stalin-Mao meeting proves correct, it is entirely likely to mean open Soviet intervention in the Korean war.

On the other hand, it is considered just as possible that Mao is either actually very ill, or that he has been marked for liquidation. Mao has tuberculosis, and he has also had severe heart attacks. His death of natural causes would therefore not be surprising. But neither would it be surprising if he suffered the kind of convenient "heart attack" which has ended the careers of numerous European Communists.

Mao, unlike any European Communist leader, is far more than Stalin's symbol. He is far more in China, and this in itself may be intolerable to the Kremlin.

Yet just because Mao is the symbol which holds Chinese communism together, his death, whether from natural or other causes, might have a disintegrating effect throughout the whole Chinese Communist apparatus. And whatever Mao's fate, the Chinese Communist apparatus is already being strained almost to the breaking point, according to reports which no longer leave room for doubt.

It is at least possible that the Chinese Communist regime, like the Nazi and Japanese regimes at the end of the last war, is in much worse straits as a result of the Korean defeat than is realized.

Ups And Downs

By BRIAN A. TOBIN

"THE big news these days," said the Elevator Man, "seems to be how much we're spending on war preparations. Millions and millions of dollars have to go into arms, because we can't trust the big fellows over there. But in all the hurly burly of mankind's preparations to kill itself off, it's refreshing to read about some of the little acts that provide a counterbalance. If you just read the front pages, you can begin to believe that homo sapiens, 1951 model, is a pretty poor specimen.

It isn't till you get into the back pages that you come across evidence that he may be a pretty good guy after all. Going up!

"This," said the Elevator Man, "is what I have in mind. Every few days you read in the paper of some sick kid who's been deluged with mail and presents by hundreds, even thousands, of total strangers. The word has got around that the youngster has only a short time to live, or is bedridden and needs encouragement. Within a few hours letters, cards, games and such begin pouring in from people who've heard of the case. For some little like a thousand miles away they go to the bother of writing, or buying a present, or sending along a note of cheer. And some invalid who'd hoped to get half a dozen letters gets a couple of carloads. It happened the other day down in Washington state where a little girl is seriously ill. It happened about the same time in Michigan, where a boy has cancer. It's happened all over this continent. And most of it without any names attached, no thought of reward or even thanks. Mezzanine!

"That," said the Elevator Man, "is what counteracts the big guns and the atomic bombs. That's our hope of staying human, of being worth fighting for. That's our really big news today—and it's a good 2,000 years old."

Youngsters Greet Mr. Big Ears

The city's little people had eyes as big as Easter eggs Saturday afternoon when they met the dashing Easter bunny as he arrived aboard C.P.R.'s Princess Patricia from Bunnyland. Hudson's Bay Co. made arrangements for visit and have given Bunny his own "cabbage patch" on the store's third floor.

Churchill Takes Appeal For Change Into Homes

LONDON (AP) — Winston Churchill moved the Conservative Party's campaign for a general election from Parliament to Britain's living rooms Saturday night with a radio appeal for "a road-based government resting on a clear and strong majority." He warned of "the dangers of old peace which come from a weak, divided and largely-disreputable Britain."

He warned of "the dangers of old peace which come from a weak, divided and largely-disreputable Britain."

Churchill spoke after a week of Conservative harassing tactics in the House of Commons against the Labor Government, which has a working Parliamentary majority of four. Conservative M.P.'s have brought up points of order and used other devices to keep the House meeting far into the night. Weary Labor members must stand by for sudden votes to prevent defeat of the government on any issue of confidence.

He accused Prime Minister Attlee's government of seeking to prolong "this hateful and costly uncertainty."

"We seek to bring it to an end," he said.

The Conservative leader said that "an entirely new situation now is before the country—the tremendous policy of rearmament."

He questioned whether the Labor Ministers are "the ones to be trusted" with rearmament. They had proved their incapacity.

THE HOME GARDEN

Methods Of Pruning Rose Bushes Described

By JACK G. BEASTALL

Pruning of rose bushes is the next job for the home gardener. This work is generally done around the middle of March in this district, although location will have some bearing on the exact date. Gardens near the sea will be from two to four weeks ahead of those further inland.

Jack

Due to the snowfall in early March pruning has been delayed but the work should be completed as soon as possible.

The Victoria Horticultural Society's rose pruning demonstration will be held Wednesday at the Beacon Hill Park. This event enables the amateur to see how pruning is done by the professional, and every rose grower will benefit by attending.

Some gardeners prefer "high" pruning while others cut quite low, but it may safely be said that the majority of amateurs do not prune sufficiently.

"High pruning" is when the canes are cut about 18 inches above ground level. This practice gives a good display of blooms in the garden.

The rose exhibitor prefers a few blooms to a bush, but wishes these to be as near perfect as possible, and will therefore cut his bushes to within three buds (six inches) of soil level. This is known as "low pruning."

Regardless of which method is used, all weak growth, and dead wood, should first be removed, and the centre of the bush thinned out to permit free passage of air and light, and allow room for new growth.

Three or four good canes are then selected to bear this year's blossoms and are cut immediately above a bud which points outwards, thus keeping the centre of the bush open.

College Elections

In balloting at Victoria College the only two positions on the 1951-52 Alma Mater Society not filled by acclamation went to Gerry Bowden and Don Matheson.

You're "in clover" these four ways!

Somewhere in your community, chances are that invested life insurance dollars are benefiting you by helping to build urgently needed public works. One of these might be a new, well-equipped school, encouraging your boy or girl to be a better student.

It might be a modern highway, helping to relieve traffic congestion in your district. Life insurance dollars, invested for the future needs of policyholders, make it possible to build many such roads throughout the nation.

Perhaps a new industry has recently moved into your town, creating jobs for many people, maybe for you. If so, it may be one of the industries that life insurance dollars have helped to build or expand. Other life insurance dollars play a part in building power plants, water systems and many other useful projects.

Families, too, benefit by these investments, which help make it possible for Canada's 5 million policyholders to enjoy double security—income for later years and protection of loved ones now. Thus life insurance promotes progress and security throughout the nation.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mills.

THE NEW VICTORIANS

By Gwen Cash

With retirement in the offing, Mr. and Mrs. Henry William ("Pete") Mills of Hongkong gave the world the once over before deciding on Victoria. They have bought one of the most modern homes in this area: Built in a grove of oaks on a steep hillside it has an expansive view of city, sea and mountains.

"It reminds me of Hongkong," said Mrs. Mills as she showed me a picture of the place they lived last in Hongkong to prove it.

"It's the first real home I've had in 25 years of married life. Most of it has been spent in company houses, packing cases, hotels or prisons."

Mr. Mills has been 40 years with the Standard Oil. They were married in Chungking. "I was carried to my wedding in a sedan chair and felt as if I might be thrown out into a paddy field," Mr. Mills said.

IN STANLEY PRISON

In 1945 they were liberated from Stanley Prison. By then they had lost all their treasures or had bartered them for food. Mrs. Mills' engagement ring—two diamonds and a very fine emerald—fetched one pound of lard, half-pound powdered milk, quarter-pound egg crystals, one pound wongtong (crude native sugar in small slabs), two tins corn beef for real emergencies, half-pound cloong (very repulsive Chinese sausage made of goodness knows what), and one pound of peanuts to grind into butter between two stones. At that time peanuts cost 400 Canadian dollars a pound. Food valued in military yen (occupational currency). Four military yen equalled one Canadian dollar. "Work it out for yourself," said Mrs. Mills.

Mrs. Mills was born in Singapore, as was her mother and mother's mother.

Mr. Mills was born in India where his family had been in government service for several generations. Starting adult life as a tea planter in Assam, he switched to engineering, and the Standard Oil.

MANY TREASURES

Mrs. Mills has used treasures she has brought from the Orient to make her Victoria home unique, beautiful, restful. Some of the chairs in the living-room are upholstered with Japanese obis—those wide and glorious scarves Japanese women wear as sashes. Others, heirloom pieces wrought exquisitely in gold thread she keeps in a handsome chest of carved teakwood that can only be opened with an intricate key. She has opium bottles of carved ivory, caledon bowls, a rare wine cup in amethyst porcelain, in the form of a lotus flower, made for an emperor in the 15th century.

"In those days," she told me, "artists made a few pieces for their patrons and then had their heads chopped off lest they duplicate them for others."

Mr. and Mrs. Mills now wait the arrival of their black cocker spaniel being flown from Hongkong.

Chinese Routed Or Set For New Drive Is Puzzle

By TOM BRADSHAW

CENTRAL FRONT, Korea (AP)—The big enigma of the Korean war—what goes on in the Chinese Communist military mind—grows more puzzling by the day.

One school of Allied front-line thought holds that the Reds are in full-scale retreat—bordering on confusion as the United Nations push nears the 38th Parallel.

Another group says the Reds have something up their sleeve and are withdrawing for a purpose, leaving small pockets of resistance at vital points to fight delaying actions.

Those who go along with the disorganized withdrawal theory point to the number of Chinese who have surrendered lately. They recount prisoners' tales of Chinese hardships—shortages of food, medical supplies and ammunition. They cite the seizures of Red arms and equipment.

And they say no further proof is needed than the intricate system of defences the Chinese have been giving up without a serious fight. Some of these entrenchments are regarded by veteran Allied officers as the best they have seen.

Those who think the Red pull-back is leading up to something don't put so much stock in the Reds' abandonment of prepared defences. They insist the Communist battle plan was changed after the bunkers and foxholes were finished. And they discount the Chinese prisoners' stories as deliberate ploys to deceive the Allies.

The threat of a full-scale offensive by the Chinese has been hanging over United Nations' armies for two weeks. It remains.

Says Britain Wheat Deal Scapegoat

LONDON (CP)—A British post-mortem on the Anglo-Canadian wheat contract says some Canadian Government spokesmen are creating the impression that Britain defaulted on the contract.

The comment appears in the Economist, an Independent weekly review. It says:

"... Liberals have to find a scapegoat, and the only possible candidate is the British Government. The (Canadian) Government itself cannot openly join in the accusation of default, because its own minister agreed last summer that there had been none. But by implication and innuendo some government spokesmen are spreading the same impression." (The Canadian Government minister referred to is Trade Minister C. D. Howe, who discussed the wheat contract in London last May.)

The Economist's story, which contains a table showing comparative prices for Canadian wheat from 1945-50, says that those who claim Canada should have received more money under the contract base their claims largely on what is termed the Canadian "class II" price set by the Canadian Wheat Board for sales outside the international wheat agreement.

Downtown Site Necessary For Aged Persons Using City Health Centre

This is the second in a series of three articles on the city's proposed health and welfare building.

By AILEEN CAMPBELL

When a man and wife receive $50 Social Assistance Allowance per month out of which they must provide food, shelter and "sundries," every 10-cent expenditure is a major item in their budget.

No one knows that better than Mrs. Florence Mutrie, social welfare administrator, and that is one of her many reasons for pressing for the Pandora Street Health Centre as a site for the new health and welfare building.

Thinking of the people they serve is part and parcel of the fabric of social assistance in Mrs. Mutrie's eyes.

BUS FARE BIG ITEM

"A lot of our cases are old people," she says. They cannot walk distances. They come into town to do their shopping and can come here for their cheques. Making them travel out of the city, even up to the Savory Estate would be a distinct hardship on many.

"That ten cent bus fare on their limited means is a big item."

Dividing the map of Victoria into three zones, the welfare department find 367 cases in James Bay, 190 in Fairfield.

Heaviest concentration is 981 in Zone 1 which is bounded by the waterfront, Pembroke, Fernwood and Fairfield Road.

"By far the greatest number live in the Christ Church Cathedral area, where there are single rooms available at rents these people can manage," said Mrs. Mutrie.

CASES TOTAL 3098

"We have a total of 3093 cases including old age pensioners," she said. "In order to qualify for social assistance people must be classed as unemployed. There are 400 single and family units now on assistance."

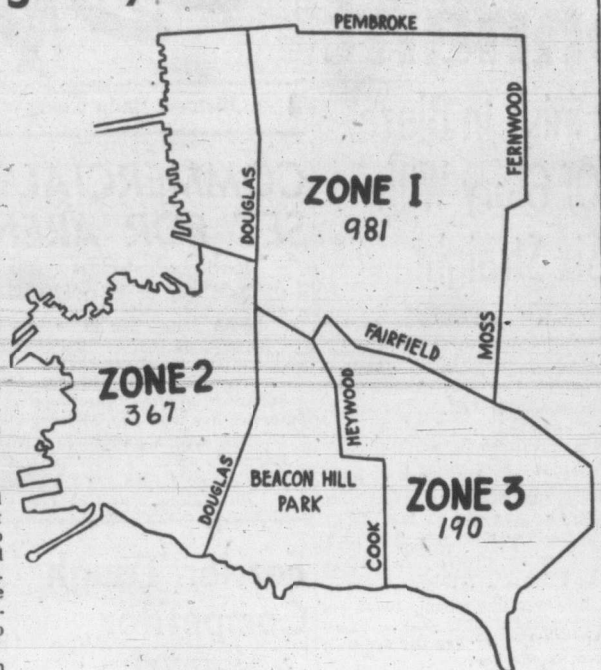

Here is the present social assistance allowance scale.

Unit	Max. All.	Food	Shelter	Sundries
1	$35.00	$20.00	$15.00	$5.00
2	50.00	32.50	17.50	6.00
3	55.50	35.50	14.00	6.00
4	67.00	44.50	14.00	6.50
5	75.50	50.50	14.00	7.00
6	84.00	56.50	20.00	7.50

Increases of $5 for single persons, $10 for couples and $1 for each additional child up to five have been recommended by the Provincial Government but must be approved by the city.

The old Cathedral site which has been suggested as a location for a welfare building, as the first unit of a new City Hall, is in the centre of the greatest number of welfare cases according to Mrs. Mutrie.

It is a City Hall there were a distinct possibility and not a dream of a quarter of a century from now, the site would be ideal for health and welfare, she felt.

CLOSE TO CITY HALL

However, in the meantime, for the greatest efficiency of administration the building should be as close to City Hall as possible, she feels.

"Every cheque we hand out must be signed at City Hall," she said. "We are in constant touch with the comptroller, city solicitor and city manager. There is always someone traveling between our building and the City Hall."

The welfare department is set in its present location at 617 Johnson Street for six months. After that the staff of 22 will remain in the building on a month-to-month basis. As the

The dispatch, monitored here, said Dr. Stanislaw Skrzyszewski has been named to replace Modzelewski.

U.S. Production Chief Sees Goal Reached, 1953

WASHINGTON (UP)—Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson said today that in 1953 the United States will have a "really mighty array of weapons ready" to fight an all-out war.

In the same year, Wilson said, the country not only will meet defence production requirements but "ought to be able actually to expand our output of civilian goods."

Wilson gave his views in a copyrighted interview with the magazine U.S. News and World Report.

The former president of General Electric Co. also said he foresees no "runaway inflation;" no rationing is planned; conscription of labor has never been considered; wage-price controls are not perfect yet, and a controlled materials plan applying to steel, aluminum and copper undoubtedly will be in operation this summer.

Without elaboration Wilson also said he had received the "green light" from President Truman on his program "especially on this debt-control business that I have been working on."

Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer recently called for more stringent regulations on installment buying, and the treasury and federal reserve board Recovered was the body of Everett Johanson, 19. Still being sought was the body of Percy Welter, 21, who came here from Vancouver with his parents.

Report to Metropolitan Policyholders for 1950

ANOTHER YEAR OF OUTSTANDING SERVICE

THERE COULD BE no better summary of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company's activities and achievements during 1950 in the United States and Canada than the following message with which President Charles G. Taylor, Jr. opens the Company's Annual Report to Policyholders.

"You have every reason to be pleased with the results of the operation of Metropolitan in 1950.

"The major test of a Life insurance company's value to the public is in the payment of benefits to policyholders and beneficiaries and in the increase of the insurance protection which the company affords them. New high records in each respect were made in 1950.

"Metropolitan has been able to maintain this year, with minor modifications, the prevailing dividend scales. The Company has also made appropriate additions to surplus funds and contingency reserves held for the protection of policyholders. This means that, with very few exceptions, individual policyholders' dividends will be equal to, or greater than, the dividends paid last year.

High Lights

Payments to policyholders and their beneficiaries... $837,000,000 — the greatest sum ever paid in benefits in any one year by the Company.

During 1950 the ownership of Metropolitan Life insurance was increased by a record amount of $3,725,000,000.

The total in force was $45,425,000,000 on the lives of 33,150,000 persons — $21,930,000,000 was Ordinary; $10,464,000,000 was Industrial; and $13,031,000,000 was Group.

After deducting investment expense, the net rate of interest earned was 3.07%.

COLEMAN'S COLUMN

By JIM COLEMAN

The professors who taught Clarence Sutherland Campbell his law courses at University of Alberta must have recoiled sorrowfully when they read the judgment which their one-time student delivered in the recent case of Maurice Richard, a professional hockey player of uncertain temper. Clarence Sutherland Campbell, who is the president of the National Hockey League, made it quite clear that his judgment was based on financial expediency, rather than on the merits of the case.

Richard was charged with attempting a small job of throttling on the person of one, Hugh McLean, a referee in the employ of the National Hockey League. Richard and McLean met in the lobby of a New York hotel and, rather than shaking McLean's hand, Richard apparently attempted to shake McLean's neck. Evidence at the hearing centred around whether Richard employed an interlocking grip or the standard wide-open stance.

Judge Campbell found Richard guilty of greeting McLean in extremely unorthodox fashion and then fined the hockey player $500.

The fine, of course, was ridiculous—nothing less than a stiff suspension was appropriate in such a case.

Just A Suggestion . . .

For one thing, it is almost impossible to fine Richard. When a fine was levied against him for cutting Vic Lynn and Bill Ezinicki in one game at Montreal a few years ago, the Montreal hockey fanatics promptly collected the money to reimburse him.

Shucks, Clarence. Before the season is finished, the Easter Bunny or some other cluck will hide that five hundred under Maurice's pillow so that he'll find it when he awakes in the morning.

Your agent suggests that if Richard had received the suspension which the case merited, the Montreal Canadians would have blown their final chance to gain a Stanley Cup playoff berth.

Montreal currently is the National Hockey League's best city in point of attendance and customer-enthusiasm. In these days of declining gate-receipts, it would be a heck of a note for the professional promoters if their best drawing-card missed the playoffs.

But, we can't help wondering what President Campbell's sentence would have been if the same offence had been committed by—let us say—Ted Lindsay, of the first-place Detroit Red Wings or Gus Mortson of the second-place Toronto Maple Leafs.

The Day After The Night Before

Rough play on the ice always has been an integral part of hockey—even in the dear dead days before the red-line loused up the game. In this regard, your agent, while in Regina last week, perused an old file of the Leader-Post with sports editor Scotty Melville.

Scotty turned to one page which dealt with a famous Western Canada Hockey League game which took place at Saskatoon on January 1, 1924. In this particular game, Red McCusker, the Regina goalie, won undying fame by being kayoed three times in the regulation 60 minutes of play.

The boys must have had a rough night on New Year's Eve because, after a rough opening, things really popped in the second period. Newsy Lalonde skated in on McCusker's net and McCusker attempted to fell him with an Australian apple-grapple. Newsy, who was a man of few words, gave McCusker a butt-end and cut him for 12.

What Say, Duke . . . Is It So?

McCusker was carried from the ice, unconscious and, after receiving hem-stitching, reported for more bloodshed.

He didn't wait long—Harry Cameron skated into the Regina net, knocked McCusker unconscious again and added another satisfactory cut.

McCusker was carried to the dressing-room—healing balms and unguents were applied and he returned to the lists.

Bill Cook apparently believed that "all bad things come in threes." In any event, shortly after the resumption of play, he skated into McCusker and dropped him for the third time.

There were two other headings on the same page: "Spunk Sparrow Suspended for Attacking Referee" and—"Duke Keats fined $50 for Climbing Into Stands After Fan."

Those were carefree days.

WHIP SWEDISH TEAM

Lethbridge Leafs Win World's Hockey Crown

PARIS (Reuter)—Canada still reigns as the country that can teach the world about hockey.

Lethbridge Maple Leafs today wore at a jaunty angle the world championship crown which they retained for the Dominion in a rip-snorting exhibition before 16,000 Paris fans Saturday night.

They handed a Swedish team—and a good one—a 5 to 1 shell-lacking to run their record in the world tournament to six straight victories and their goal totals to 62 for six against.

Over-egginess cost the Canadians dozens of scoring chances during the game, but they still gave the newly-crowned European champions a lesson they won't forget.

They attacked incessantly, boring through a hard-hitting Swedish defence with body shifts that dazzled the losers. They out-stickhandled and outshot their opponents.

They broke up Swedish attacks at the red line time and again with a barrage of checks. They clung to the Swedes like chewing gum in defence and brushed them off like mosquitoes in attack.

It was as a worse-beating than the score showed, and the Swedes were glad enough to escape with their goal-average lead over Switzerland intact. They

Fighting Cougars Claw Way To P.C.H.L. Pennant

Ed Dorohoy's Vaunted Boast Made To Stick

The most brazen brat of the brash Cougars, 1950-51 pennant winners in the Pacific Coast Hockey League, is the new league scoring champion.

Eddie Dorohoy, in a blazing finish last night, garnered three assists and one goal as the Cougars trounced Seattle, 7 to 4.

His point total of 87 is one more than that recorded by New Westminster's Ken Ulyot.

League president Al Leader confirmed Dorohoy's championship this morning to squash a rumor that Ulyot and Dorohoy were tied.

This must rank as the most amazing feat of the year.

HE CALLED IT

The saucy little centre predicted at the start of the season that he would win the scoring title. But he started late and was down in the ruck up until the final few weeks of the campaign.

However, in the last 10 games he ran wild to amass 28 points, winding up in a blaze of glory with four points last night. His season's total was 29 goals and 58 assists, as compared to Ulyot's final total of 39 goals and 47 assists.

Ulyot led by three points entering the final game.

Dorohoy played in 68 games, two less than Ulyot, who saw action in all New Westminster's 70 games.

MAZUR JUST MISSES

Dorohoy's running mate on the Cougar's first string line—Eddie Mazur—failed in his bid to capture league goal-getting honors, finishing up second best to Seattle's Joe Bell.

Mazur had 43 goals, Bell 46. Mazur finished in a fifth-place tie with Seattle's Rudy Filion, both with 37 points.

Coach Roger Leger also missed tying the league record for goals by a defenceman, ending up the season with 17, one shy of Babe Pratt's record of 18.

Leger wound up in 14th place with 60 points, Jack McIntyre tied with Vancouver's Bill Shill for 18th spot with 57 points, while Joe Evans made the top "20" with 53 points.

Patsy Wins First One For Ireland

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UP)—Pat O'Sullivan, a 23-year-old Irish miss from Orange, Conn., picked St. Patrick's day week-end to score her first major open-golf victory.

Miss O'Sullivan, whose best previous triumph was in the 1950 north-south amateur tournament, led from start to finish to win the Women's Titleholders' Championship yesterday with a 72-hole total of 301.

The Connecticut girl got the jump on the field when she equalled men's par with a brilliant opening round 72. She followed with a 76, collected a 77 on St. Patrick's Day and toured the last round in 76.

Most of the big names in women's golf, including veteran pros Babe Didrikson Zaharias and Patty Berg, were in the tournament, but Beverly Hanson of Indio, Calif., was closest to Miss Sullivan at the finish. Miss Hanson, National Amateur champion, also matched men's par on the last 18 for a 303, two strokes more than the winner.

Miss Berg of Minneapolis and Claire Doran, the Cleveland school teacher, wound up in a third-place tie with—305 strokes each.

Coast League Scoring Champion

It's official! Eddie Dorohoy has won himself the Pacific Coast Hockey League scoring championship by one point over New Westminster's Ken Ulyot. Loop president Al Leader has confirmed Dorohoy's 87 points to Ulyot's 86. Dorohoy, who has scored 28 points in his last 10 games, last night picked up four in the Cougars' 7 to 4 win over Seattle as the Victoria club won the P.C.H.L. pennant.

CATS START TOMORROW ON LEAGUE PLAYOFF TRAIL

Pacific Coast Hockey League semifinals will open tomorrow night with Victoria hosting Portland Eagles at the Memorial Arena.

Second game of the best-of-seven set will take place Thursday here with the third game at Portland, Sunday, and the fourth at Portland, Tuesday. Dates of other games, if necessary, will be announced later.

The other semi-final bracket has New Westminster at home to Tacoma Wednesday in the first game.

Second game is scheduled for Tacoma, Friday, the third at New Westminster, Saturday, and the fourth at Tacoma, Sunday.

The final will also be a best-of-seven affair.

Nanaimo To Meet Trail Smokies On First Leg

VANCOUVER (CP)—Nanaimo Clippers Saturday night on the Mainline-Okanagan amateur hockey championship with a 10 to 5 win over the interior champion Vernon Canadians.

The decisive win, fashioned with a five-goal third-period rush, gave Nanaimo the best-of-five series three games to one.

Clippers now open the B.C. final against Trail Smoke Eaters, meeting the Western International League champions Wednesday night.

HEANEY'S LOSE

Heaney's soccer team suffered a double defeat at Seattle over the week-end. The seniors lost 3 to 0 to Buchans and the juniors went down 1 to 0 to the Seattle organization's juvenile club.

QUEBEC JUNIOR (Semifinal)
Quebec 6, Montreal Canadiens 2.
(Quebec leads best-of-nine series, 4-2.)
NORTHERN AMATEUR SENIOR HOCKEY LEAGUE

Finish In Blaze Of Glory With Six Straight

The impudent young Cougars have won the Pacific Coast Hockey League title—won it the way they went through the regular season—by coming from behind.

One little point is the margin of superiority over New Westminster Royals and the Cougars got it last night by erasing 2 to 0 and 3 to 1 deficits at Seattle, to defeat the Ironmen, 7 to 4.

However, it probably won't become official until league president Al Leader has the season's records checked.

It was a fitting climax to the season, a season that saw the Cougars start off as momentum, pick up steam through the middle portion of the grind and come roaring down the stretch with a six-game victory streak that took everybody in stride.

Not only did the Cougars show their true worth when the chips were down, as they were last night, but they won that big series with New Westminster the previous week-end to set the stage for a glorious finish that has taken the town by storm.

And included in the drive that started Christmas Day when the club was in the throes of a bad slump and beset with injuries, is a record of 19 games without defeat on home ice.

Their overall season's mark saw them win 35, lose 20 and tie 15, quite a feat considering that last year they finished in the cellar with a total of only 50 points.

Last night's win was well-earned. Saving their best for the last, the Cougars spotted Seattle a 1 to 0 first period lead, saw the Ironmen move ahead, 2 to 0, and 3 to 1, and then came on with a terrific spurt to win going away.

With the Ironmen on top 3 to 1, the Cougars struck late in the second period—Joe Lepine made it 3 to 2 and seconds later Eddie Mazur knotted the count.

That's the way it was, going into the final stanza.

Eddie Dorohoy, the new league scoring champion punched home the tie-breaker and ex-Seattlite Joe Medynski made it 5 to 3. Seattle got one back, but Medynski slammed home another and Reg Abbott made it certain late in the stanza.

PORTLAND SIZZLES

Down in Portland the Tacoma Rockets whipped the Eagles, 7 to 2, to finish in third place.

Tacoma led from the start and were pulling away at the finish.

MILLAR FIRED

After the game Portland coach, Tony Hemmerling, announced he had fired goalie Al Millar. Hemmerling said he had gained permission from league president Al Leader to use either Vancouver's Hec Highton or Seattle's Red McAtee in the semifinal playoffs.

On Saturday New Westminster had forced the Cougars to win this last game by defeating Vancouver, 5 to 3, momentarily taking the lead. Tacoma and Portland battled to a 4 to 4 tie.

Summaries follow:

COMMERCIAL PUCK SEMIS SET FOR ARENA TONIGHT

It will be underdogs versus the favorites at the Memorial Arena tonight as the Commercial Hockey League goes into the playoff semifinals.

Both games are to be regulation time—20-minute periods—as against the 15-minute periods which have been played during the regular schedule.

The first tilt will see Gladwell Meteors against Civil Service. In four meetings between the two teams, Civil Service has won two, Meteors' one, with one being tied.

The second game will have Douglas Tire opposed to the league winners, Fishermen's Co-op. The Fishmen have a three-to-one record over Tiremen during the season.

First game starts at 7.30, second game at 9.

Ferrier Tough Competitor

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UP)—Jim Ferrier, who is shooting for his third golf title since March 4, started the last round of the Jacksonville open today with a five-stroke lead over his nearest rival, Art Wall Jr., of Bronxville, N.Y.

Ferrier shot his third straight 68 yesterday to grab the third-round lead with a 12-under-par 204. Wall posted a 66 on the third round, only one stroke over the course record, to jump into the runner-up spot with a 209.

Jack Shields of Cedar Rapids, Ia., deadlocked Ferrier for the second round lead but slipped to third when he shot a 74. He began the last round with a 210. Lloyd Mangrum, the former P.G.A. champion from Chicago who ruined Ferrier's bid for three straight titles by winning the Seminole pro-amateur crown earlier last week, held fourth spot with a 54-hole total of 211.

United, Vic West In Jackson Semis

Victoria United will meet Esquimalt in the Jackson Cup semifinal at Athletic Park Saturday at 2:30.

The Coast Leaguers earned the select bracket and at the same time gained some revenge for an earlier defeat at the hands of Duncan Native Sons by whipping Duncan, 5 to 1.

Played before one of the largest crowds of the season, the game saw United hold a wide territorial edge.

Denny McGee shot United into a 1 to 0 lead at the 41-minute mark after many erratic moments on the part of the coast leaguers.

Red McMillan scored on a free kick through a maze of players at the 11-minute mark of the second half. Wally Milligan got the third marker at 15 minutes, five minutes before Lambert Johnny tallied for Duncan.

Jack Robbins, who has yet to miss on a penalty try, counted one of his specialties to make it 4 to 1, and Milligan scored his second at the 25-minute mark.

WESTS WIN

Ernie Field's Victoria Wests moved into the semifinals of Jackson Cup play Saturday afternoon at Athletic Park when they whipped Oak Bay, 4 to 1.

But for the sterling work of Norm Richards, in goal for Wests, the score might have been much closer to the actual play. Richards had one of his best days, the only ball to beat him coming in high off the boot of Jack Thompson with the sun behind it.

West's goals were scored by Murray Speller, who got two markers in the first half, and Chick Newman, who got the two last-half tallies.

MEET LEGION

Wests will meet Britannia Legion next week-end in the second semifinal bracket.

Vikings Down Scottish; J.B.A.A. Wins

Sparkling sun and a perfect pitch welcomed city rugby players back to the game Saturday afternoon after several weeks of enforced idleness due to bad weather.

Victoria College Vikings seemed to benefit most by the lay-off, taking the Canadian Scottish team, 13 to 3, at Macdonald Park.

Vikings, with the sun behind them, ran up their score in the first half on tries by John Campbell, Norm Alexander and Elmer Mathews. John Shipley converted all three.

Scottish came back strong in the second half, holding the advantage in territorial play, but could only succeed in one scoring chance, when Jack Utting intercepted and went over near the corner.

On the lower pitch, J.B.A.A. were scoring their second win in the new schedule for younger teams, whipping Victoria College, 11 to 0, in a game that was much closer than the score indicates.

Pete Zarzy with a try and a conversion, and Fraser Nicholson and Laurie Smith were J.B.A.A. scorers.

Arrows Give Champs Battle Before Defeat

Victoria's Arrow Furniture dropped the second game of their senior A basketball series with Vancouver Ellers Saturday night and emerged a much happier and more confident team than the one which took the floor Friday night.

Ellers, first ladies of the basketball court in the Dominion, had to call on all their depth and background to oust the Arrows, 53 to 38.

The local girls had so far overcome their initial awe of the mainland club that they took a 13 to 11 lead in the first quarter and were still three points up at the half.

Fielding their strongest five for a third-quarter recovery, Ellers took the game in hand from that point, but as Vancouver coach Ruth Wilson said at the finish: "Those kids let us know we had been in a game."

Line-ups follow:
Vancouver Ellers—Summers 11, Stoddard 3, Fairweather 12, N. McDerrott 3, L. McDermott 4, Macintosh 1, Kicon, Davy Vincent 4, Slater 2, Dorothy Vincent 7. Total 53.

Arrow Furniture—Boys 8, Cockburn, Hutton 4, Johnson, Gladson, Kennedy 8, Rodgers 5, Ross 7, Sinclair, Wright 4. Total 38.

New Zealand Test Headed For Draw
CHRISTCHURCH, N.Z. (Reuter)—New Zealand today completed a stolid first inning of 417 runs for eight wickets declared against England, then got rid of England's threat No. 1, Len Hutton, in the second day's play in the first England-New Zealand test match.

England's closing score was 63 runs for one wicket, and it appeared that New Zealand's slow progress had set the match on the road towards a draw in the remaining two day's play.

TIME OUT! By Jeff Keate

"Really digs in at the plate, doesn't he?"

Provincial Basketball Finalists

Defeating North Shore C.Y.O., 39 to 29, in a sudden-death game at North Shore Memorial Gymnasium, Saturday night, Victoria Tilliums won the coast intermediate "B" boys' basketball championship. The clubmen will meet the interior champions for the British Columbia title

Howe Sets N.H.L. Scoring Record; Canadiens Move Into Playoffs

Detroit Red Wings are National Hockey League champions for the third consecutive season, their ace right-winger, Gordie Howe, has set a league scoring mark, and Montreal Canadiens are assured of a playoff position.

These were the decisive results of an action-packed week-end which saw each of the six teams play twice.

The Red Wings clinched first place with two victories over the last-place Chicago Black Hawks, 8 to 2, in Detroit Saturday night and 4 to 3 in Chicago Sunday night.

Howe picked up four goals and one assist in the two meetings to boost his season's total to 42 goals and 44 assists—84 points—which is two better than the record set by Herbie Cain of Boston in 1943-44.

Montreal, a team that was just about counted out of contention a few weeks back, topped off a hot stretch drive with a 3 to 1 Saturday night win over Boston Bruins and a 2 to 2 draw in Boston Sunday.

In the other home-and-home series Toronto Maple Leafs defeated New York Rangers 3 to 1 and 4 to 1.

DETROIT ON TOP
The way things stand now, Detroit has clinched first place; Toronto is assured of second; Montreal is in third, three points ahead of Boston and four ahead of New York.

Rangers have two games to play, and the best they can do is tie Montreal in points, but even then Canadiens would win a playoff spot because they have more victories than Rangers. That means it's strictly a fight between Boston and New York for the fourth playoff position.

Crowd of 11,655 at Detroit saw the Wings bounce Chicago Saturday. Besides Howe's three goals, Jimmy Peters got two and Sid Abel, Red Kelly and Marty Pavelich one each for Detroit. Pete Babando and Roy Conacher tallied for Chicago.

HAWKS GO DOWN HARD
The Hawks suffered their 10th straight loss before 4,958 fans Sunday, but not without a fight. They tied the score three times before George Gee, a former Chicago player, broke it up with his second goal. Gerry Couture and Howe were the other Detroit scorers while Ray Powell, Roy Conacher and Bill Mosienko scored for Chicago.

Notable in the two games was the fact that Terry Sawchuk let five goals go by him, thus tightening the Vezina Trophy race with the Toronto goaltending combination of Al Rollins and Turk Broda. Rollins was scored upon only twice and Toronto now has had only two more goals scored against it than Detroit.

ROLLINS BRILLIANT
In the two Toronto-New York games, the spectacular work of goalie Rollins provided what might be a preview of the Stanley Cup playoffs. Before a crowd of 13,348 in Toronto, defenseman Jack Evans was the only player to score on him Saturday. Leafs came from behind with third-period goals by Tod Sloan, Ted Kennedy and Howie Meeker to win the game.

In New York Sunday a crowd of 11,620 saw Reggie Sinclair beat Rollins to break the shut-out early in the third period after Max Bentley and Meeker had given Toronto a 2 to 0 lead.

Three Players To Canadiens
CINCINNATI (AP)—Now that Cincinnati is out of the Calder Cup playoffs of the American Hockey League, three of its players have been ordered to report to Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League, coach King Clancy announced tonight.

Slated to check in with the Canadiens Wednesday are Gerry Piamondon, Bert Hirschfeld and Paul Masnick. Montreal currently is in third place in the N.H.L.

Y.M.C.A. CLUB TAKE VARSITY IN DUAL MEET

Norma Stewart Sets Breaststroke Record

Senior women members of Victoria's Y.M.C.A. swim team swept the women's events in the dual meet held Saturday night at the Crystal Garden.

Competing with the University of British Columbia team from Vancouver and strong contenders from the Victoria Amateur Swimming Club, the "Y" girls turned the tables on Varsity's superiority in the men's classes and piled up most of the winning 55-point total.

The two relays, 150-yard medley and freestyle, went to Victoria Y.M.C.A. teams, together with a clean sweep of all three places in the senior women's backstroke, freestyle and breaststroke events.

In the latter event Norma Stewart posted a time of 35.4 which may stand as a Canadian record for the 100-yard distance. Complete results follow:

Men's 100-yard medley relay—U.B.C. won when last "Y" team was disqualified for starting too fast.

MAJORS SING HERE WE GO 'ROUND THE MULBRY BUSH

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Walter Mulbry's resignation as secretary-treasurer of baseball has been accepted to become effective at the executive council's pleasure, it became known today.

Mulbry's ouster was requested by A. P. (Happy) Chandler, baseball commissioner, who was refused a new contract by major league club owners at a meeting here last Monday.

The owners have voted 160 to request the executive council to terminate Mulbry's contract "at their pleasure" and at Chandler's request.

Executive council members accepted Mulbry's offer to resign, but agreed to keep him on his job for an indefinite period.

City Ice Six Captures Island Bantam Laurels

Victoria's all-star bantam hockeyists won the Vancouver Island championship over the week-end by forcing Nanaimo to default the second game of the scheduled two-game series.

The up-landers called it off when they were humbled, 14 to 1, in the first game of the total goal affair at the Memorial Arena Saturday.

The city side will meet the mainland representatives in a two-game, total-goal series here on March 28 and 29 for the provincial title.

Brian Turnbull set the scoring pace with four goals. Murray Little, Bill Abbott and Taylor each notched a brace. Keith Lawrence, Bob Large, Ian McIntosh and Paulin got singletons.

In city playdowns, Cubs gained the finals of the bantam division by whipping Capitals, 9 to 2, and Cubs blanked Senators, 3 to 0, to take a one-game lead in the midget final.

Other results saw Maroons edge Bruins 4 to 2 in a midget consolation contest; Royals take Maroons, 3 to 0; Cubs shut out Bruins, 3 to 0, and Senators trip

VICTORIAN SPRING

by Cecil Maiden

Letty Merriwell, shipwrecked and orphaned off Victoria, in 1902, is rescued by Amelia Murray, daughter of an important official in the young colony's legislature. Letty is taken into the Murray home, where she arouses the instant envy of Amelia's beautiful step-sister—the lovely Caroline Murray. With Amelia's help Letty is offered a post in the Murray home as governess to the children. On a shopping expedition in Victoria, she meets Caroline's fiancé—Lieut. Jervis Braid, R.N. Mrs. Murray planned a birthday ball for Caroline, at which the betrothal was to have been announced. But after Letty sang Braid walked out. Caroline bitterly resents Letty's presence in "Ernanoch." Letty leaves after a talk with the Rev. Cridge.

XXXVII
The moment they were properly seated in the carriage, Dugald spoiled all Letty's assurance again by producing a crudely-made round object which his none-too-clean fingers held earnestly upwards.

"Pen wiper," piped his small voice.

Letty took the thing and looked down at it, noting Dugald's attempt to cut in neat circles the round pieces of material that composed it, and the two thin, circular pieces of kid leather on the top and bottom of it.

Her calm was shattered. She lifted Dugald up on the carriage step and put her arms about him.

"Zeke," said Amelia, "the only way to stop us all behaving like a lot of babies is to crack up those horses and get on our way."

"Yes, Miss Murray, ma'am." Down went Dugald, back he stepped with Meg, and with the familiar click of Zeke's tongue the horses moved forward. The children—how suddenly small and alone they looked—waved and Meg, who could not endure to see an adult in tears, took one last look at Letty's full eyes and buried her own small head in her hands.

Letty waved back as the carriage rolled around the driveway. It was when she was putting her handkerchief back on her lap again that her gaze rose—almost as if bidden to do so—to the upper window in the corner of the house.

The lace curtains closed quickly. The hand that had parted them disappeared. But before it disappeared Letty caught a vivid momentary glimpse of the face that had been watching from the shadows—impassive, mask-like, exhibiting neither satisfaction nor triumph, but watching, with cold and terrifying intensity.

Letty involuntarily shuddered. That, she tried to tell herself, was the last of Caroline Murray. But she knew, even as she framed the thought, that it was not so. Every quickening instinct told her otherwise.

"Well, Letty—I hope that's the end of the worries you'll have with the Murray family. Or at least with some of us."

Letty looked back into the carriage, glad that Amelia had broken the evil spell.

Under the new blue cape Letty's fingers were on the cameo brooch again. "Where would I have been if one of the Murrays hadn't come down to the wreck that night!"

"With some other family."

People like you are looked after."

She spoke the words with such a calm assurance that Letty looked round at her with a quick and interested smile. And perhaps, as she looked, she saw Amelia—the real Amelia—for the first time.

It was early morning and the bright winter sunshine shone on Amelia's plain grey dress and on her one poke bonnet, casting on the face beneath it a softening blue-brown shadow out of which her two bright eyes were shining with not only the usual strength and warmth, but with a wisdom Letty had not yet seen there.

Everyone at "Ernanoch" had accepted the fact that Amelia was going to be a missionary. But it was a fact in quotation marks. "Amelia was going to be a missionary." As if it were decreed by destiny but had little connection with everyday fact. And Amelia, despite her many interviews with the Reverend Cridge had never discussed with Letty any details of those talks.

At church Amelia sang earnestly and with purpose. She repeated the established prayers not merely as if she knew them but as if she loved them. And this morning Letty began to know why.

Amelia must have found, in that strange and abstract world that was full of intangible phrases such as the Beauty of Holiness and the Grace of God, a warmth and an assurance. The quiet eyes proclaimed that now.

"I believe," said Amelia quietly. "I believe you're going to be very happy, Letty. Oh, there'll be troubles to meet—just as there've always been. But you've a lot to give. And God will bless you in it."

That was quite a speech for Amelia. Letty found herself nodding slowly, then looking up through the avenue of trees to the deepening sky.

They did not talk again, except of trifling things—the number of ships in the harbor, how noisy and crowded the bridge was becoming these days. And

Old Sweats Attend Pats' Reunion

By ROY THORSEN

While the newest edition of frontline P.P.C.L.I. soldiers were adding laurels to the war history of the famous Canadian infantry regiment against the Chinese Reds in Korea during week-end, old veterans and newer ones gathered here to toast Lady Patricia Ramsay in honor of her birthday.

The Patricias are named after Lady Ramsay.

This is the third war the P.P.C.L.I. have been in since 1914.

According to word reaching here, even some of the fighting unit members found time to toast "Our Lady" in their battlefront positions.

Most dominating figure at the Bay Street Armory P.P.C.L.I. smoker Saturday night was Brig. W. G. Colquhoun, better known to the army as "Shorty"—he stands six-foot-five and although retired, lives and breathes P.P.C.L.I. every day of his life.

Other "old sweats" present were Col. R. L. Mitchell, Bill Leach, Capt. George Harrison, Jack J. Smirl, Sid Linley, Sgt. Maj. Ted Cooper, Harris Turner, Col. Archie Hunt, Jim Robertson and Dave Cuthbert.

Young Patricia veterans present included Hugh Thorburn, Fred Buxton, George Foley, Sgt. L. S. Kennedy (still on active service) William Conwell and Tiny Kyle, who lost a leg in service with the Pats in the 1939-45 war.

It was an evening of entertainment; an evening of recalling highlights of two world wars. Brig. Colquhoun, who returned to the city that day, had news for the gathering about the Patricias' 3rd battalion being whipped into battle shape at Fort Lewis and soon to join the brother battalion on the fighting front.

Artists appearing on the program included Harry Hall, singing comedian; Irvine Ford, violinist; Chuck Macfarlane, female impersonator; Tom Glendenning, juggler. Capt. Harrison accompanied the artists on the piano.

MARTEL NEW CHAMPION WINS INTERNATIONAL DOG DERBY

"Dogs Well Conditioned" Says World Champion

"My wonderful dogs deserve all the credit for their victory in the International Dog Derby in Ottawa. I only drove them. But I trained my dogs all year, and I brought them up to tip-top running condition for the race using Dr. Ballard's Meal Formula. In all my years of raising dogs, and racing them, I have never used a food that compares with it. This meal seemed to give my dogs more energy and endurance and really on the final day, I think they could have gone another thirty miles!"

Burgess Bedtime Story

By GILL ROBB WILSON

You'll find wherever you may be None from mistakes is wholly free.
—Farmer Brown's boy.

Unc' Billy Possum's cousin who lives down in the land-of-always-summer where so many of the feathered folk from the north spend their winters, is called Manicue. Seeing him for the first time you would know at once of what family he is a member. You wouldn't have to guess. You would know that he is an opossum, own cousin to Unc' Billy. His tail is a little longer and there is a little more black in his coat. Otherwise he looks very much like Unc' Billy. Anyway, it seemed that way to Farmer Brown's boy.

A REAL POSSUM

"He is a real possum. There is no doubt about that," he chuckled as he looked down at Cousin Manicue stretched on the ground at his feet. Had you happened along just then and seen Cousin Manicue you would have been sure that you were looking at a dead possum. Yet only a moment before, thinking no one was watching, Cousin Manicue had suddenly come to life and tried to steal away.

"I guess he has all of Unc' Billy's tricks," added Farmer Brown's boy.

"Did you say 'he'?" asked the friend who was with him.

"Of course. Why?" replied Farmer Brown's boy.

"Your mistake, Tommy. You should have said 'she.' That is Mother Manicue, not Father Manicue," replied the other. Stopping, he picked up a baby from the ground close beside its mother.

Tommy's eyes opened wide in surprise. "Where in the world—" he began, then broke into laughter in which his friend joined.

"This little fellow must have been in his mother's big pocket all the time," said the latter, holding the baby up by the tail.

He was no bigger than a mouse. "Now I know for sure that Cousin Manicue is a true opossum for no mothers among animals on this side of the world have big outside pockets, like kangaroos, to carry their babies in. I've seen Mrs. Possum with a couple of babies peeping out of her big pocket and three or four more riding on her back. I wonder if Mother Manicue has any more babies with her, or if this is the only one," said Tommy.

ONLY ONE

It appeared that this was the only one. Perhaps there had been others and something had happened to them. Anyway this was the only one Mother Manicue had with her now. The two boys looked him over with interest. Although no bigger than a mouse he was a perfect little possum, though Tommy insisted that his head looked too big for the rest of him. All the time they were looking him over he was crying in a squeaky little voice to which his mother seemed to be paying no attention.

"She hasn't even lifted her head to see what is happening to her baby," said Tommy. "Do you suppose she can't hear?"

"He was holding the baby by his tail. Now he bent and held baby so that his small nose was close to one of his mother's ears. Baby continued to cry. Mother Manicue didn't so much as twitch that ear. She didn't blink an eye. She lay there without moving. She couldn't have looked more dead if she had been dead. No, sir, she couldn't have looked more dead."

She lay there without moving

"Do you suppose she is too frightened to move? I have heard of folks being frightened stiff," said Tommy.

"I doubt it," replied the other. "Still, I would think a mother would take some notice of her baby, wouldn't you?"

"It is queer mother love, if you ask me," replied Tommy. Then he chuckled. "Perhaps she is giving him a lesson in how to play dead. Let's lay her on that log over there and see what she will do if we keep still."

129 More Casualties For U.S. In Korea

Arena Financing Plan

A bill introduced in the Legislature would give authority to the Victoria City Council to add to the powers of the Memorial Arena Commission.

More specifically, the council could authorize the commission to make additions, improvements and alterations to the arena and its machinery, providing for the payment of the work out of the revenue of the rink, and to set up reserves out of such revenue.

Also introduced in the House was a bill reducing membership of the board of directors of Jubilee Hospital from 18 to 12.

The 12 directors would be appointed as follows: two by the provincial government, two by the city, one each by Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt, and four by the members already named. The 12th member would be the chief of the medical staff of the hospital.

Clergymen, doctors and hospital employees, other than the chief of medical staff, would be barred from membership on the board, also persons having direct dealings with the hospital.

Both bills were introduced by Capt. D. J. Proudfoot, third Coalition member of the Legislature for Victoria.

What's Your Opinion?

By IRVING STRICKLAND AND DAVE STOCK

"What do you think of day-light saving?"

Joe Dukowski, manager of Memorial Arena, 18 Cambridge Street—"I'm all for it. Although I'm still not entirely familiar with the summer sports program here, I know daylight saving worked to advantage on the prairies. It gives you more hours of daylight and everyone benefits. Some people might say it's hard on the youngsters but they can soon adjust themselves. Actually, daylight saving tends to curb juvenile delinquency."

Mrs. Beatrice Harding, dressmaker, 1030 Fort—"I like the ordinary time. When they bring in daylight saving, I have difficulty getting up early in the morning and find it harder to get to sleep at night. A lot of people, because it's light out at night, don't get to bed until late and consequently don't get the proper sleep. Then it affects their health. And you can't get away from it, no matter what you do to the clock, there's only so many hours of daylight."

Len Kellow, carpenter for Carey Construction, 1085 Hurlford Road—"I don't see that it matters much. As far as I'm concerned I like getting up early in the summer. It's a lot easier to get up early in the summer than it is in the winter. I suppose I do benefit from daylight saving, though, because sometimes in the summer I like to go fishing or swimming after work. Daylight saving gives me more time to do those things."

Miss Frances Howorth, accountant for Dad's Cookie Company, 1543 Pearl Street—"I am for daylight saving. It gives me time to cut my lawn at night. It gives all working people a chance to get out and play a game of golf or something like that. I think it only right, though, that daylight saving should be confined to the school children's holiday time. I expect it would be a nuisance in school time. Parents no doubt would have a time getting their youngsters to go to bed."

Ernest Price, driver for North-western Creamery, 3010 Dean Street—"Daylight saving is lousy. For anyone who has to get up early—really early—it means an extra hour of winter. Most milkmen will tell you the same thing. We start out at half past five and we start at that time just the same when there's daylight saving. There's no advantage to fast time when you have to start out when it's dark and raining only to have it clear up when the sun comes up. And at night, you don't get to sleep until the regular time. Maybe daylight saving is all right for those who have got time to play around, but it's not for the working man."

Mrs. Kay Shillington, of Shillington's Grocery, 3453 Quadra Street—"I think it's a good idea, although I really haven't thought much about it. Daylight saving is better for business. People are out walking and they are more likely to drop in for an ice cream cone or a chocolate bar or something. It doesn't really make any difference to me personally, but it's wonderful for business people. If a vote were taken, I think most people would be in favor of it."

Say Margarine Too Hard Competition For Farmer

Many Owners Slaughtering Herds To Cause Shortage In Products

Continuation of the sale of margarine in Canada may eventually mean that butter will disappear from store shelves altogether, Charles Walls, secretary of the B.C. Federation of Agriculture, declared today in a brief to B.C. Legislature's agricultural committee.

Peace Group Fails To Gain Hearing

The B.C. Peace Committee today was refused a meeting with the provincial cabinet on an "invasion" by over 30 of its members from the mainland and Vancouver Island points to argue for immediate action to halt the war in Korea.

The delegation turned at once to private members of the Legislature, "button-holing" them in the corridors of the Legislative Buildings to present their views. Among Victorians in the delegation were Keith Ralston and Mrs. A. E. Pease.

Recruits Needed

The Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron here is in the final stages of organization, but needs more recruits, Sqdn. Ldr. "Pip" Holmes, officer commanding, said today.

With equipment due any day, airman and N.C.O.'s are required. They will be trained in radar and communications, technical and operational.

Sqdn. Ldr. Holmes especially urged young men, such as air cadets over 16, to take advantage of the chance to train for an R.C.A.F. trade.

Parades will be held Thursday evenings at 7.30, at the air force recruiting centre, 1315 Government. Training will continue there until the unit obtains its own quarters.

TO BEAT DEADLINE

Buyers Hurry To Get Old Rate Instalments

Saturday, last day to make instalment purchases under old and easy terms, saw a marked jump in retail sales in most large stores and car lots, according to a survey made by the Victoria Daily Times.

Staffing today, much more rigid requirements on credit buying becomes effective.

The down payment on cars is now one half the purchase price, on other goods one-third of the purchase price, $10, is the minimum down payment instead of $5, monthly payments must be at least $10, and the payment period has been reduced from 18 to 12 months.

Flu Cases In B.C. Decrease Sharply

Influenza, which has taken the lives of 16 persons in B.C. during the current epidemic, is on the decline.

Provincial health authorities report there were 1,686 cases reported in the week ending March 15, while in the previous week there were 2,093.

Majority of cases were in the northern section of the province.

Mr. Walls said many dairy farmers were finding competition from margarine too hard to beat. He said many farmers were slaughtering their herds because they could make more money that way.

Mr. Walls declared 60 per cent of all beef sold in Canada last year came from dairy herds.

Alex Mercer, president of the Fraser Valley Milk Producers' Association, said if farmers continued to cut down herds, a shortage would be felt in milk products, such as whipping cream.

"The day may come," he said, "when we'll have to depend on a vegetable oil product to go with our strawberries."

Request Voting Age Be Made 18

The vote at 18 years of age rather than 21 is advanced by the B.C. committee of the National Federation of Labor Youth in a brief being circulated among members of the Legislature.

A delegation from the committee visited the Legislative Buildings today to present their views on this and other subjects including apprenticeship training, and educational opportunities for young people.

Mayor Against Proposal To Change Pension Act

One more nibble at the civic purse is the way Mayor George feels about a proposed amendment to the Municipal Superannuation Act, which would cost the city approximately $1,935 per year for administration costs.

Under the amendment commencing April 1 of this year, employers would be required to pay administration costs which now approximate $3 per year per contributor and pensioner.

IN COURT

VICTORIA

Magistrate Hall dismissed a careless driving charge against Clive A. Kelly, 2260 Roseberry, arising from a Victoria West collision.

Fine of $35 was imposed against Margaret Hopkins, 1170 Tattersall, when she pleaded guilty to careless driving arising from an accident on Moss Street.

Through counsel James Proudfoot, Robert D. D. Harvey, 20 Sylvan Lane, pleaded guilty to careless driving and was fined $35. He was in collision with a parked car on Fairfield Road.

Case of Erskine Anderson and Robert McMillan, charged with keeping a gaming house, was further remanded to March 27. Fines of $25 and $25.00 costs each, were imposed against Walter A. Taylor, Walter Cedar and Joseph Cedar, all listed at the address of 852 Yates Street, on charges of failing to file 1949 income tax forms before the deadline.

Butchers Ready To Oppose Night Opening Of Stores

Will Increase Expenses Dealers Say

Protest is expected from the Vancouver Island Meat Dealers' Association if an attempt is made by some larger grocery concerns to stay open one evening in the week until 9, as has been mooted.

Reg. Williams, president, and Jack Stuart, of the association which they say represents 75 per cent of the retail meat trade in the city, expressed concern today over the move.

Both indicated it would mean still higher meat costs.

"Any increase in services is always paid by the consumer and I think most people will agree meat has gone high enough—I know we think so," said dMr. Williams.

"There will be no more business done as there is only so much business in Victoria," he continued. "It will merely increase expenses."

Both Mr. Williams and Mr. Stuart said the opening up one night in the week would be just the beginning, with soon stores open every night in the week.

"There'll be no limit," they said, adding that Victoria stopped the Saturday night opening of meat stores as far back as 1919.

Lighting Due For Nanaimo Airport

NANAIMO—Lighting for Nanaimo Airport at Cassidy and provision for radio installation have been included in the Department of Transport estimates for 1951, Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., M.P., has informed Mayor Earle Westwood.

This action will answer the chief problem of Nanaimo la-crosse team, which would have been unable to maintain its schedule in the new city league without the benefit of night lights.

Since all estimates are well-screened before they ever reach the house in the form the estimates, it is unlikely that anything will block the improvement.

OFFER REWARD AFTER FURTHER DAMAGE TO CITY PARK LOOKOUT

Wanton destruction of 39 windows at Beacon Hill Park Lookout over the week-end, drew the ire of the city parks department today.

City Manager Cecil Wyatt has authorized a reward of $40 leading to the conviction of person or persons responsible.

A month ago 19 windows were broken at the Lookout.

"We have had a great deal of deliberate vandalism there," said Parks Administrator W. H. Warren. "It always happens at night and chiefly on week-ends."

Central Saanich Fails To Secure Assets List

Central Saanich got the "cold shoulder" from both the Saanich Apportionment Board and Saanich Municipal Hall today when Reeve Sydney Pickles and an independent appraiser tried to secure a list of the assets being divided between the two municipalities.

As a result of a resolution passed by Central Saanich Council that it conduct and pay for independent appraisal, W. H. Skelding of Universal Appraisal Co., Vancouver, arrived here today.

"At a meeting of the apportionment board at Royal Oak today I asked for a list of all assets being considered," Reeve Pickles said. "At the same time I told the board it was their right to withhold their own evaluations."

"Councillor Lorne Thomson, a member of the board, asked that the list be turned over, but William Crouch, chairman, refused to do so," Reeve Pickles said. "K. R. Genn, Saanich member of the board, made it clear he was against giving us the list."

John B. Tribe, Saanich municipal clerk, also refused to give the Central Saanich representatives a list unless authorized by council.

The reeve and others will visit Municipal Affairs Minister Mac-

Donald today, and will attend Saanich Council meeting tonight in an effort to have the list of assets given to them.

Fill 'Blank Spots' In Province Maps

British Columbia's once inaccessible wildernesses are no longer the unknown areas they used to be, thanks to the intensive and thorough job of aerial photography being done by provincial government survey men.

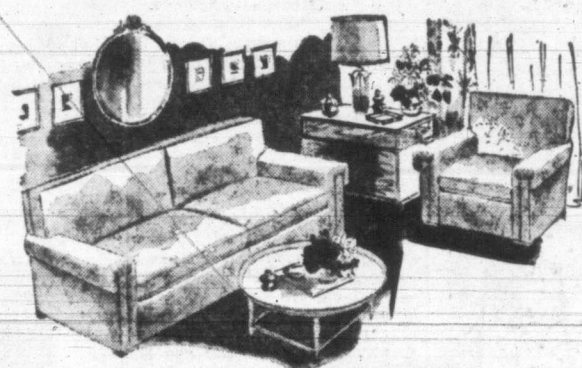

"Blank spots" in B.C. maps have been filled in, thanks to modern methods, Norman Stewart, former surveyor-general for B.C., told the local branch of the Royal Astronomical Society.

Use of helicopters, electronics and air surveys has speeded up the job of mapping this province—once considered a 70-year task, Mr. Stewart said.

Acts AT ONCE to relieve

NIGHT COUGHING

Many thousands of prescriptions have been filled for PERTUSSIN. It acts at once not only to relieve coughing but also to "loosen up" phlegm and make it easier to raise. PERTUSSIN is safe for both young and old. Pleasant tasting.

shower curtain hook. They sit and wait your approval with $3.09 price tag.

Then there's the can't-see-through garment bag in dull grey with flap that opens on the side like a great tongue. Mentioned the fact that you can't see through the be-zipped bag, for many a tourist has complained that the goods stolen from their cars were mainly clothing that could be seen through transparent garment bags. In dull grey and measuring all of 40 inches in length and 16 inches less in width, the bag sells for $5.79.

And if it's tea you're serving, Miss Social Life, there's a wee crumb tray with matching hardwood handled brush to whisk away the tidbits. All this daintiness for $1.25.

By the way, if hubby has the writing urge these springish days... especially when told there's a roof to fix... then you might tell him about the fold-over note cards with covers featuring many of Winston Churchill's well-known paintings. For a one dollar bill the clerk will give you the 12 cards and envelopes.

TODAY'S RECIPE

APRICOT COFFEE CAKE

Three-quarter cup sifted all-purpose flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/2 cup granulated sugar, 1/2 cup fine dry bread crumbs, 2 tablespoons shortening, 1 egg, 1/2 cup milk.

Half cup dried apricots, 1/2 cup brown sugar (packed), 1/2 cup fine dry bread crumbs, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt, spice and sugar. Stir in crumbs. Blend in shortening. Beat egg lightly, add milk, and add to first mixture, stirring only to moisten dry ingredients. Pour into greased eight-inch square pan.

Drain apricots thoroughly and chop. Spread over batter. Blend brown sugar, crumbs and butter; sprinkle over apricots. Bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) 20 to 25 minutes. Serve warm. Serves nine.

Shamrock Tea—Pots of shamrocks decorated tea tables at the annual Shamrock tea sponsored by members of St. Matthew's Guild, Langford. Mrs. D. B. F. Bullen welcomed guests. Conveners were Mesdames G. ## MARY HAWORTH'S MAIL

Widow At 16, Married Again At 17, Mother At 20, Girl Depressed By Husband's Parents, Who Disapprove Of Past Life

Dear Mary Haworth: I try to think my problem is just the period of depression that follows childbirth, but I know it goes back too far for that. Dave is 21 and I am 20, and we have been married three years. We have a fine baby daughter three months old, and would be completely happy together if it weren't for my mother-in-law's attitude. She disapproves of me because of my religion, and because I was previously married (and widowed).

When I was 13 and a sophomore in high school, I married Bob. I can almost hear your readers gasp and scold at me—but Bob was wonderful to me and we were very happy. At 15 I graduated with honors, was very popular and chosen class queen and we seldom missed a dance or school event. But tragedy struck on our third anniversary. Bob was mortally injured in an auto accident and the shock of his death caused me to lose our unborn child.

When I entered college the following September I was never more melancholy. By January I was beginning to come out of my haze and date a bit. But soon I was totally disgusted with the sex-hungry boys who seemed to classify me as a divorcee, and so I crept back into my shell and dated very little. On my 17th birthday I went to a party given by a close friend and there I met Dave. We started dating and got married three months later. His mother and stepfather were conspicuously absent from the wedding and although Dave professed not to mind, I knew he did.

TENSION MOUNTS OVER GRANDCHILD Before the baby was born Dave's mother tried to make him feel it was disgraceful for a man to love his unborn child. They even offered me five thousand dollars to terminate the pregnancy. After she was born they threw a fit because we didn't name her as they wished. They criticized my care of her, and I admit I am awkward and inexperienced, but I love her and want to rear her my way. We don't owe them a thing, they didn't even encourage Dave when he needed it, and I've never said a word against them, although I think Dave knows how I feel. What is the best way to cope with in-laws like mine?—E. S.

REAL SELF-RESPECT DISPELS DEPRESSION Dear E. S.: The best way to cope with the rejecting attitude of your disgruntled in-laws is to accept yourself, with real self-respect.

Nothing could be more indicative of maturing character than Dave's loyal disposition to love his unborn child. In railing against this and trying to secure an abortion, his mother was advertising hysterical reluctance to let him proceed with adult commitments of his own choosing.

Mary Haworth counsels through her column, not by mail or personal interview. Write her in care of The Times.

I remember asking the owner of a lodge in northern New Hampshire how late in life one could learn to ski. He replied that he learned at the age of 60. Afterwards I did find that he had broken both legs but he is a vibrant soul and probably took it too fast. An instructor from Sun Valley once told me that anyone could learn at any age if they have instruction and go very slowly on very mild slopes at first.

Even if you have not been skiing, why not drag yourself away from the steam or gas heat now that spring is nearly upon us and take peppy walks. I think one reason women do

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

If You Missed Winter Fun, Go Out And Get Some Air

Many people hibernate in overheated houses most of the winter, and do not even come out one day a season like the ground hog does. Yet there is nothing more invigorating than a brisk walk in really cool weather.

Those who coddle themselves in this extreme way seem to be more subject to colds than others do and they miss months of outdoor exercise unless they live in a warm climate.

It is too bad that most women are spectators so far as sports are concerned after they pass their thirtieth birthday. Even those who will swim in summer-time have usually given up ice skating, tramps in the snow or cold, and would no more think of learning to ski than they would of learning to walk a tight rope. Yet winter sports are tremendously attractive and healthful.

I remember asking the owner of a lodge in northern New Hampshire how late in life one could learn to ski. He replied that he learned at the age of 60. Afterwards I did find that he had broken both legs but he is a vibrant soul and probably took it too fast. An instructor from Sun Valley once told me that anyone could learn at any age if they have instruction and go very slowly on very mild slopes at first.

Even if you have not been skiing, why not drag yourself away from the steam or gas heat now that spring is nearly upon us and take peppy walks. I think one reason women do not do this more regularly is because they dislike bundling up. Naturally you are flirting with trouble unless you dress properly.

What you wear will depend on the weather today. But don't put it off simply because the weather is not as comfortable as you might wish. You will return with a glow on your face and in your heart and with fatigue a thing of the past.

Remember, too, the homely but vitamin-rich vegetables and fruits such as cabbage and spinach, carrots, oranges and apples, may help you avoid the spring cold.

Hislop, new High Commissioner for New Zealand, Bruce Hutchison, His Excellency Sean Murphy, Ambassador for Ireland, William Ireland, C. C. Wyatt, and Tilly Rolston, M.L.A. Announcement was also made that next Wednesday's meeting at which Lady Fletcher speaks will be open to the public.

INVITED BY U.N.

Kate Aitken To Represent Canadian Women's Groups

The U.N. has invited Kate Aitken to represent Canada at the International Women Broadcasters' convention to be held in New York, April 6. Mrs. Aitken is one of six women broadcasters chosen from United Nations countries to discuss the contribution women can make toward world unity. Also taking part will be a representative from Britain, the Continent, Australia, India and the United States.

The opening session on April 6 of this International Women Broadcasters' convention will be broadcast over the three major U.S. networks, as well as an international circuit which includes the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

The conference, which has been called in view of the present world crisis, marks the first time the United Nations has recognized opinion of women throughout the world as a power.

Delegates Named

A Charming Early-March Bride

Mrs. Herbert H. Abbott, whose wedding took place earlier this month, has now returned from honeymoon to live in this city. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Gibbs, 750 Middleton Street. Mr. Abbott is the elder son of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Abbott, Hampshire Road. (Photo by Robert Fort)

Blossoms Enhance Bride's Gown Of Lace, Nylon Net

Delicate pink plum blossoms in the church were a pastel contrast to the bride's gown of imported lace and nylon net over whisper tulle, worn by Elsie Worthington Foster when she became the bride of Stuart Forbes Hamilton in Christ Church Cathedral.

Dean G. R. Calvert heard nuptial vows spoken by the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Foster, 286 Island Highway, View Royal, and son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Hamilton, 1150 Woodstock Avenue.

A headdress composed of fresh lily of the valley held the nylon tulle veil that misted over the bride's gown fashioned with lace bodice featuring nylon net yoke applied with lace, off-the-shoulder effect, long sleeves that ended in points over her wrists, and double net and tulle skirt that extended from winged effect at hipline to fan-shaped train.

Her cascade bouquet was of white iris and lily of the valley. Trio of attendants Mrs. Kenneth Hall, matron of honor, and bridesmaids Misses Ethel Clapson, Seattle, and Eileen Munro, Vancouver, wore floor-length gowns in tones from mauve to gold and bronze. Bandeaux of fresh flowers were worn in their hair and they carried bouquets of tulips and freesias.

Graham Drew was best man and ushers were Ernest W. Wellwood, Vancouver and George Straith Jr.

Traditional wedding music was played by Organist Graham Steed.

Spring blooms, pussy willow and plum blossom decorated the home of the bride's parents, Island Highway, where the reception was held. The couple cut a three-tier cake topped with vase of roses, that centred the bride's table set with Madeira lace cloth and lighted white candles. Major L. W. Johnson proposed the toast.

For traveling, the bride chose a brown and cream toned worsted dress, brown hat and matching brown suede accessories. She pinned a corsage bouquet of Talisman roses and yellow freesias to her topcoat of yellow camel and wool.

Music Society In Concert

Sponsored by the Peranon Group of the church a concert was presented by North Saanich Musical Society in Emmanuel Baptist Church recently. Mrs. V. Taylor welcomed the society on behalf of the Peranon Group and Rev. J. Smith expressed thanks following the concert. Those taking part were the Country Gentlemen Quartette with Ivan Green, C. Ganderton, A. Bain and F. Spooner; Mrs. F. D. Till, pianoforte; Vera Charlesworth, vocalist and instrumental trios by Grace Beswick, Muriel Filby and Eric Edwards. Several choral numbers were conducted by Eric Edwards accompanied by S. Barnes.

Toastmistress' Group Chooses Timely Topics

Mrs. A. Thompson won the "oscar" at recent meeting of Victoria Toastmistress' Club.

The speaker told how it is now possible for people suffering from a progressive type of deafness to have their hearing restored by an operation known as "Fenestration."

Mrs. R. C. Campbell was awarded the "spur" by general evaluator, Mrs. M. Naysmith, for her talk on "The Women's Canadian Club."

"B.C. Lighthouses" was subject chosen by Mrs. M. McKenzie and Mrs. N. Graham's mystery story was entitled, "The Stranger." Topic of a talk by Miss G. John was, "Are There Too Many Frills Attached to Modern Education?"

Other speakers were: Mesdames M. Foxall, J. Nivin and P. Pready. Mrs. H. Simpson was toastmistress. Critics were Mesdames M. Waldon and M. Black, Misses J. Dixon and M. Hainess. Table topic was conducted by Mrs. N. Smith.

Guests included Miss L. Bowron, charter member of Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club, Mesdames G. Birch, L. Arsens, C. M. McCullough, and Miss J. Marshall.

Home Economics Association guest night, Wednesday, 8, 823 Broughton Street. Miss Edna Lawrence, mental hygiene consultant for city schools, and Miss Mildred Orr, assistant director of home economics, guest speakers.

Rose Petals Cover Aisle At Dallas Church Wedding

Little flower girls in full skirted gowns of white organza scattered rose petals to create a colorful path for the bride, Mary Vashli Sagar, as she walked up the aisle to repeat her wedding vows with Hunley Edgar Seaton Jr., in Lovers Lane Methodist Church, Dallas, Texas.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Sager, 2606 Bowker Avenue, Victoria and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hunley E. Seaton, North Hollywood, Calif.

For the candlelight service the bride chose a distinctive gown of white rustling taffeta designed with tiny jacket and overskirt of exquisite Valenciennes lace. A matching lace cap held her veil of illusion net and she carried a fan-shaped bouquet of orchids and gardenias. Mr. R. Harris gave his niece in marriage.

Miss Marge Sager, who traveled to Texas from Victoria to be her sister's maid of honor, wore a ballet-length gown of lavender shantung and carried a bouquet of palest pink orchids. Petite flower girls were little Susan Jane Harris and Page Goodpasture.

Mrs. Jones Re-elected

Mrs. J. G. Jones was re-elected president of Ladies' Auxiliary of United Commercial Travelers recently at their annual meeting. Other officers named were Mrs. W. Davies, secretary-treasurer, and Mesdames C. B. Mess, J. Fawcett, R. Pitzer and J. Wilson, executive. Annual reports were read showing donations made to Solarium, Cancer Fund, Community Chest and Winnipeg Flood Relief.

30-Year TV Contract

NEW YORK (AP)—Television comedian Milton Berle has signed a 30-year contract with the NBC, the network said Sunday. Financial details were not disclosed, although NBC said the contract runs into seven figures. Berle is 42.

Piano Recital By Newcomer

An unusual program that spanned the last three centuries, presenting representative work from each, was heard Saturday night at the home of Dr. and Mrs. T. H. Johns. Eleanor Haimberger was the artist, a pianist who has recently come to make her home on the island.

Madame Haimberger's broadly developed technique and masculine power were particularly revealed in the Schumann

"Nocturne" in F-sharp minor and the Weber "Rondo Brillante." The latter, a typically virtuosic piece, demanded little that was not of a physical nature, unlike the Schumann number with its profound thought and romantic spirit.

The recital concluded with Bartok, the modern Hungarian composer, whose research made such valuable additions to folk music literature. The vigorous forthrightness of the pianist's style her powerful tone-production (which she sometimes presses beyond beauty), made these brief impressions vividly arresting. Her encore was the A-flat Major Mazurka by Chopin.

The concert was sponsored by the Victoria Chapter of the Royal Conservatory of Toronto Alumni.

IN HOLLYWOOD

TV Has Public Clamoring For Stars Of Yesterday

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—The back-to-the-spotlight after 20 years' casting of Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell in an hour's radio version of "Seventh Heaven," left movie moguls blinking. The blinking changed to amazed confusion when Hollywood learned the inside story behind the casting.

The inside story: Old movies playing the TV circuit have boosted Janet and Farrell back into the "hot" personality class. Eye-popping spelling error on a movie marquee: Alan Ladd in "BRANDIED!"

Jack Benny added that year at the Palm Springs Racquet Club when pals tossed him a birthday party, he blew out the candles and cracked "Well, now I'm forty."

3-Way Contest For Female Honors In '51 Oscar Derby

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Movie-town's "Run for the Roses"—the annual oscar derby—comes down the home-stretch a week from Thursday night and it's still a wide-open race, particularly among the fillies. Every one in Hollywood has his own ideas about who will be crowned the year's movie champions. Here is a consensus of the current trends, as well as some observations of my own:

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY

When today's hand was played West thought carefully before he chose his opening lead. His opponents were conservative players, and their willingness to bid no-trump made it fairly clear that they had the unbid suit (spades) well controlled. He "believed" the club and diamond bids, but decided that hearts might be the weak point since North had never rebid the suit and South had never supported it. Hence he began a defence that was to end with a most unexpected setting trick.

When West led the deuce of hearts dummy played low and East won with the jack. East returned a low heart and West's ten forced out dummy's king.

Declarer cashed the last club, saving two diamonds and two spades in his own hand while East saved a spade, a heart and two diamonds. Then South led the singleton diamond from the dummy. East properly put up the ace of diamonds at once and cashed the last heart. This trick squeezed poor South.

If South discarded the king of diamonds, the defenders would immediately take a diamond trick so South was obliged to blank his jack of spades. Thereupon East led his ten of spades, which was covered by South's jack and West's king. Dummy could take the ace of spades, but then West made the setting trick with his six of spades.

CARD SENSE

Q—With both sides vulnerable you deal and bid one diamond. Your partner bids one spade. The opponents pass throughout. You hold: Spades Q, 7, 5, 3, 2; Hearts A, Q, J; Diamonds K, Q, J, 5, 2; Clubs A, K, 4. What do you do?

A—Bid three no-trump. You have all the unbid suits well stopped and high cards slightly better than twice the value of an average hand (one that contains one ace, one king, one queen, one jack and one ten).

There should be a good play for game and your balanced hand should play well at no-trump.

TODAY'S QUESTION
With both sides vulnerable you deal yourself the following cards: Spades Q, 7, 5, 3, 2; Hearts A, K, J, 9, 8; Diamonds 4, 3; Club 2. What do you do? Answer tomorrow.

"Anybody who looks at the world today can see how natural cruelty is to all kinds and classes of people, everywhere. . . . There are people who carve on dumb defenseless animals, disguising their cruelty as 'scientific research.' Those people need to be protected against themselves, by law, just as the rest of us need to be protected against what they may do if left alone in their regenerate behaviour. For cruelty to animals, never forget, is just the first step toward systematic cruelty to man."
From editorial in Washington Times-Herald. (Canadian Anti-Vivisection Society, 608 Scollard Bldg.)

Art Centre of Greater Victoria, Gallery, 823 Broughton Street, opening Tuesday. Display of work by Czech children. Gallery hours 11.5-3.30 p.m. Public 25c. Members and students free.

Legislative Committee In Favor Of Three-Man Price Control Of Milk

Support to the idea of having milk control put in the hands of a three-man committee, instead of the present one-man board, came this morning from various members of the B.C. Legislature's committee on agriculture during discussion of a "B.C. Federation of Agriculture" bill. The suggestion of a three-man board came from Arthur Ash,

M.L.A. for Saanich, who thought the board should have a representative from the producer, distributor and consumer. Mr. Ash said such a board would look better in the eyes of the public than the present one-man board. Mr. Ash said there was a general feeling that the one-man board was dictatorial. E. E. Winch, Burnaby member, agreed with Mr. Ash, and said that he had heard E. C. Carr of the milk board referred to as B.C.'s "milk czar."

Alex Mercer, president of the Fraser Valley Milk Producers' Association, though a three-man board would produce no better results. "Under such a set up," said Mr. Mercer, "the confusion would be very much accentuated. You could not expect agreement."

Mr. Mercer said Mr. Carr was well qualified to be B.C.'s milk board and said that he had always been fair in his decisions, although his decisions had not always pleased the farmers.

SPRING CROWDS ISLAND SNOW

Spring and summer are fighting for first place in the spotlight of the upper part of Vancouver Island. North of Duncan open spaces still have a covering of snow. Through to Qualicum the roads are clear but five or six inches of snow lines the roadside where it piled when the roads were cleared. The almost summerlike weather makes the snow seem like an intruder.

How COLDS affect your KIDNEYS

The kidneys are very delicate organs, easily affected—especially by a cold. Their duty is to filter impurities and excess acids from the blood. When you have a cold extra work is thrown upon your kidneys.

Dodd's Kidney Pills help your kidneys clear your system of excess acids and poisons caused by colds and give you a chance to shake infection sooner—feel better faster. If you have a cold get and use Dodd's Kidney Pills.

And they called it—

CADBORO BAY ROAD

BEHIND THE SIGNS WITH Jim Nesbitt

Cadboro Bay Road runs from the city limits on Fort Street to Cadboro Bay. At one time all Fort Street, from Cook eastward, was called Cadboro Bay Road.

The road was named for the Hudson's Bay Company's brigantine Cadboro. The ship was named, as far as can be learned, for Cadborough Farm in Sussex, England. The Cadboro was built at Rye, Sussex, near the Cadborough Farm.

The Cadboro, which was not a naval vessel, though she was armed, was the first vessel to anchor in Cadboro Bay, the first to enter Victoria Harbor and the first to enter the Fraser River. She reached this coast from England in 1827.

In 1880 the Hudson's Bay Company sold the Cadboro and two years later she was driven ashore in a fierce storm near Port Angeles, while carrying lumber from Puget Sound to Victoria. She was 56 feet long, 17 feet in beam, 72 tons register and mounted six guns.

8,000,000 Men In Red Forces Of Russia, China

Soviet Soldiers, On Whole, Stubborn, Brave, Physically Tough, Says War Office

LONDON (UP)—The British War Office said today that the Soviet Union and Communist China each has 4,000,000 men under arms.

It put the Soviet Army at 2,800,000 men and the Chinese Army at 2,500,000 men. The remainder of the 8,000,000 men are in the navies, air arms and security forces of the two countries.

"On the whole, Soviet soldiers are brave, stubborn and physically tough," the war office report said.

Other highlights of the report on the Soviet army included: 1. Army ranks are riddled through with "informers" who report suspects to the Communist Party and secret police.

2. A private makes 24 cents a day. A major-general may get up to $19,600 yearly.

3. Pre-army training begins at 15 years of age. Privates serve under the conscription law for two years, non-commissioned officers for three.

4. Much of the training consists of political indoctrination with accent on "the aggressive designs of the Anglo-Americans."

5. The army is organized into rifle armies and mechanized armies. Mechanized armies consist of two tank divisions, two mechanized divisions and supporting arms.

6. Administrative services are limited to about one man in 10 in a division, made possible by "toughness and frugality" of Soviet troops who are used to a lower standard than western soldiers.

7. All ranks are compelled to contribute one or two months' pay yearly to state loans.

8. "All ranks have a lower average educational standard than their opposite number in western armies." Better educated men remain in industry or serve in the navy, air force or para-military police forces.

LOVE'S LABOR GOT BROKEN

WEST CENTRAL SECTION, Korea (CP)—Pte. Pat Cullen of Weyburn, Sask., stood atop a cold, wet Korean mountain the other day and eagerly opened a parcel from his wife.

The aroma promised something just the thing for a typical Korean winter's morning—but Pte. Cullen had a feeling all was not well.

As he suspected, the bottle of rum had been broken en route.

However, Mrs. Cullen's cookies had the flavor.

Twofold Revolt Reported In Albania

LONDON (Monday) (CP)—Reports in this morning's newspapers claimed there is considerable unrest in Albania.

The Daily Herald (Labor) said in a front-page headline: "Albania puppets begin purge at top."

Pocket Geiger Counter

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Atomic Energy Commission is exhibiting a radiation detection instrument compact enough to be carried in a roomy overcoat pocket. The instrument employs the principle of a geiger counter, registering the amount of radiation detected on an indicator dial. It weighs about three pounds.

A Daily Herald commentator, W. N. Ewer, said martial law has been proclaimed in Albania and that this was an attempt to cope with "widespread revolt" against Russia's "puppet" Communist government.

The "revolt" was two-fold, Ewer claimed. "It has broken out inside the Albania Communist party itself. The party is to be purged."

"Already Spiro Spano, one of the vice-premiers, and Rita Markon, minister of industry, have been dismissed."

"But even more serious than the revolt in the party is the revolt of the passionately nationalized Albania tribesmen, who have been growing more and more restless under the attempts to bring them under Russian control."

A dispatch from Rome in the Daily Mail (Conservative) depicted a similar Albanian situation.

"A big Communist party purge is reported to be going on in Albania following an alleged bomb plot against a Soviet diplomatic mission at Tirana (the Albanian capital), the Daily Mail Rome correspondent said."

"Albanian refugees in Rome said the situation is that of a nationalist anti-Soviet rebellion along Titoist lines in the Albanian Communist party rank and file."

SOME DAY YOU MAY BE USING SOMEBODY ELSE'S REAL TEETH

NEW YORK (AP)—First steps toward a live tooth bank were announced today at Columbia University's College of Physicians and Surgeons.

This human miracle is not yet in sight but after 11 years trying it is working on rats.

One drawback from the human point of view is that most of these teeth are taken in the bud stage. Judging by the present level of scientific information, you could get your new tooth only from a baby.

Car Crash Kills Two

HOQUIAM, Wash. (AP)—Two persons were killed and two seriously injured today when their car rammed a viaduct five miles north of here. They were returning from a dance.

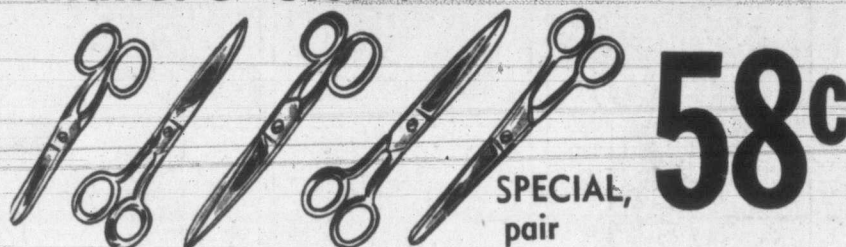

The dead are Theodore Wick, 27, Hoquiam, a mate in the U.S. maritime service, and Miss Corine Morford, 25, a teacher
